Three Served Ginger Ale On Car Made Ill

Four Days Before
Ike Boarded Train

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—A Secret Service investigation was under way tonight to determine whether "poisoned" ginger ale was served aboard a private railroad car four days before President Eisenhower boarded it.

"We don't think there has been any plot aimed at the President," Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman said, "but we do want to find out all there is to know about the situation."

Howard Skidmore, director of public relations of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, described the incident as "the case of the upset tummies," and said that while three persons became ill none was seriously harmed.

One of those stricken was described by Skidmore as a mechanical service employee of the railroad. The others were women relatives who came aboard the private car of C & O President Walter Tuohy to visit him at Huntington, W. Va., Thursday night. Ike Not Told Of Incident

There was some question, by implication at least, whether they were made ill by the ginger ale or by food eaten at a private home earlier.

President Eisenhower, who boarded the car in Washington last night to come to White Sulphur Springs for his talks with the President of the Mexico and the Prime Minister of Canada, had not been told of the incident to night.

Baughman ordered what he called a "routine investigation" a few hours after Eisenhower arrived here this morning. The President had a steak breakfast in the car before leaving the train, but no soft drinks.

Baughman told a reporter: "We want to find out whether the soft drinks were poisoned or whether the folks affected may have gotten some poisoned or bad food before they ever came aboard the car."

Nine People On Car
"C & O Office Car Chessie 29, the car of Walter J. Tuohy, president of the C & O, was in the C & O's shops at Huntington, W. Va., last week for a routine mechanical inspection."

"Before the car left it was visited briefly by the wife of one of the mechanical men, his 11-year-old son, two women cousins of his wife and one of their young sons, also 11. In all nine people were on the car."

"The family group plus the other two mechanical men had all dined together at a home and the women and children came down to see the men off."

"Ginger ale was served but not all drank it. Some of those who did drink it commented on its unpleasant taste. The train left and the women and children went home without untoward incident."

"Later that night three persons who had taken ginger ale suffered upset stomachs. One of the mechanical men left the train at Washington and went to a hospital. His condition is not critical. One woman was ill at home in Huntington but has recovered. A second woman went to a hospital in Huntington where she still is. She is recovering and in no danger."

Bottles Tossed Off Train
"The empty bottles from which they had drunk were thrown off the train on the way to Washington before anybody got sick. At Washington all the bottled beverages left were taken from the car. Three bottles of ginger ale and samples of ice were sent to a laboratory in Baltimore where tests found nothing wrong. Eight other bottles of gingerale were sent to the West Virginia State hygiene laboratory at Charleston. The tests (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Red Organizer At Tiflis, Soviet School, Ousted

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP)—Tiflis University's Communist party secretary has been fired for failure to indoctrinate students with communism. Officials and teachers at the university are under criticism for failure to enforce "rules of socialist order."

These fresh indications of widespread disaffection among the youth of Georgia, Joseph Stalin's home republic, were disclosed in Saturday's issue of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn of the East, which reached Moscow today.

Guilt Of 'Hooliganism'
It said the students have been cutting classes wholesale for more than a year, many have had to be punished at the university or arrested and some have been guilty of hooliganism (the Soviet term for antisocial activity).

Previously Dawn of the East had told of Communist party moves against the university administrators and said the rector, V. Kupradze, had been charged with failure to maintain discipline.

On March 9 students at Tiflis were given a half holiday during which they paraded, carrying banners displaying portraits of Stalin and Lenin, the founder of the Communist Soviet state.

No Serious Trouble Indicated
Dawn of the East's editorial indicated that, long before the current Kremlin campaign to smash the Stalin myth was publicized, students and other persons in his native Georgia already were showing renewed signs of their intense pride in their separate nationality.

This was apparently intensified when the full-scale anti-Stalin drive began, and burst forth in various local disorders.

There were no indications here, however, of any serious trouble.

Passover Celebrated

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Jews the world over began the celebration of Passover at sunset today. The observance commemorates the exodus of the Jews under Moses from Egyptian bondage more than 3,000 years ago.

Sasscer Backs Tydings; Mahoney In Howard Co.

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—The Democratic organization in Prince Georges County headed by Lansdale G. Sasscer today endorsed Millard E. Tydings for the party's nomination to the U. S. Senate.

Tydings, a senator for 24 years prior to his defeat by Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler in 1950, and George P. Mahoney are the leading contenders for the nomination.

Joining with Sasscer in the endorsement were State Sen. H. Winship Wheatley, all six members of the county's delegation in the House of Delegates, and five of the six members of the county's state central committee.

In Baltimore, two city councilmen from the 5th Legislative District, Leon A. Rubenstein and Jacob J. Edelman, announced their support of Tydings.

Probe Refused Secret Papers On Trade Policy

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee bumped into a wall of resistance today when it tried to get confidential papers on Communist trade policy from high administration officials.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and John B. Hollister, foreign aid administrator, all refused to give the information on the grounds it would violate national security and that it was confidential material of the executive branch of the government anyway.

Closed-Door Offer Accepted

The officials renewed their offer to tell behind closed doors the full story of the 1954 agreement by Western nations to relax some of the controls on trade with Russia and her Communist satellites.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), the subcommittee's chairman, accepted this offer today, after having rejected it on an earlier occasion.

A secret session may be held Wednesday to hear the confidential testimony. But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) served notice he might not necessarily feel bound to keep all of the story secret.

Any time he learns "that our allies are shipping strategic war materials" to the Reds, he told Weeks and Hoover, "I will make that information public if, as and when I please."

Probers Draw Another Blank

Although they have been applying pressure for several weeks, the senators have been able to get very little information from the administration at public hearings. They drew another blank today when they demanded all copies of working papers which served as a guide to the American negotiators in Paris, where the Red trade relaxations were worked out two years ago.

"The chair orders and directs you" to yield the information, McClellan said. He was supported in this demand by McCarthy. But all three witnesses refused.

Letter's Arrival Costs Hubby Bet

PEORIA, Ill., March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Lacock of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia in southeastern Africa won a fur cape from her husband today.

She clinched a bet when her letter reached Francis Nash, city clerk of Peoria.

The letter, mailed from Salisbury, was addressed simply, "Town Clerk Peoria, Ill." It said: "Dear Sir: I am writing this letter and addressing it in the ambiguous manner I have to settle an argument with my husband. If my letter reaches its destination in Illinois, U.S.A., my husband will have to buy me a fur cape. He feels that I address mail in an unsatisfactory manner but I reckon he is a clot to think that the postal authorities should not know where Illinois is. Please forgive me for wasting your time but do drop me a card if you receive this. Marjorie Lacock, Salisbury, South Rhodesia."

Nash quickly made out a card of acknowledgement.

Supreme Court Backs Act, 7-2

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A 1954 law to compel witnesses to give testimony in cases involving national security, in return for immunity from prosecution, was upheld today by the Supreme Court 7-2.

Justice Frankfurter, speaking for the majority, said the Fifth Amendment privilege against compulsory self-incrimination ceases when "immunity replaces danger" of prosecution.

Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which he said the framers of the Constitution "put it beyond the power of Congress to compel anyone to confess his crimes."

Contempt Conviction Affirmed

Douglas, whose opinion was concurred in by Justice Black, said "the privilege of silence is exchanged for a partial, undefined, vague immunity" and that "Congress has granted far less than it has taken away."

The court's decision affirmed the contempt conviction in New York of William Ludwig Ullmann, first person to be punished under the law.

Ullmann, called before a federal grand jury investigating a Washington wartime espionage ring, refused to answer questions, claiming the privilege against self-incrimination.

Upon recommendation of Atty. Gen. Brownell, U. S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld promised Ullmann immunity from prosecution as a result of any testimony he gave. When he still refused to answer questions, Judge Weinfeld sentenced him to six months in jail.

State Immunity Also

Frankfurter said the act gives a witness immunity from state as well as federal prosecution resulting from compelled testimony.

Frankfurter said the law reflects a congressional policy "to increase the possibility of more complete and open disclosure" in security cases by removing fear of state—as well as federal—prosecution.

The court specifically ruled only on a provision to compel testimony before federal grand juries and in federal courts. Another provision, to compel testimony before congressional committees, was not directly involved in the Ullmann case.

Farm Conferees Report Headway

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Senate-House conferees began their remodeling job on the farm bill today and reported "good progress" after a three-hour session behind closed doors.

The big election-year measure must be worked over from top to bottom to reconcile differences between the House version, approved last year, and a bill passed by the Senate a week ago.

"I am exceedingly hopeful we can finish up this bill Wednesday night so it can go to the floor of both houses Thursday," Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the conferees, said after the initial meeting.

No votes were taken today, it was reported. Conferees indicated some big tests might come tomorrow, when they will hold two sessions.

Ellender said the 10-member group discussed all the major issues in the legislation and that he felt a meeting of the minds was brought closer on several of them. He singled out the administration's soil bank plan as one provision on which he said there seemed to be a wide area of agreement.

Youth Gets 1-2 Years In Shopper's Slaying

RALEIGH, N. C., March 26 (AP)—A 21-year-old son of Harvard University professors was sentenced to 1 to 2 years imprisonment today for the slaying of a woman shopper here last May 13.

Attorneys for Richard Paul Kluckhohn submitted a plea of nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of involuntary manslaughter which was accepted by the state.

The plea and sentence came at Kluckhohn's second trial for the death of Miss Bernice Seawell, 43, Arlington, Va., a government worker. She was killed by a bullet fired from a hotel room as she was standing in a parking lot.

U.N. Delays Mideast Peace Mission Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The U. N. Security Council agreed today to postpone final action until next week on a United States plan to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a special peace mission to the Middle East.

The decision was reached after Israel and four of her Arab neighbors—Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Egypt—had asked permission to state their views on the proposal. They told delegates privately that they would not be ready to speak before next week at the earliest.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. opened today's meeting by appealing for urgent action to meet what he called the most serious challenge ever faced by the U. N.

Russia Favors Delay
It soon became apparent, however, that several delegates, including Arkady A. Sobolev of Soviet Russia, wanted to hear the Israeli and Arab representatives before taking a final position on the U. S. proposal.

This view was presented finally in a formal proposal by Iranian Delegate Djafar Abdolmohammadi, who called for a recess until Tuesday, April 3, to permit the Middle East countries to prepare their statements.

After protests by Lodge and by Australian Delegate E. Ronald Walker against such a long delay, it was finally agreed to meet again on Wednesday of this week with the understanding that no action would be taken at least until a second meeting scheduled for April 3.

Plan's Approval Expected
There still was no indication that the delay would sidetrack the expected approval of the U. S. plan, which calls for the secretary general to survey the situation and undertake whatever negotiations he finds necessary.

At this afternoon's session, Britain, France and Australia quickly lined up behind the American proposal. Some others, while reserving final comment until later, endorsed the plan in principle. These included Peru, Iran and Belgium.

Train Kills Two Boys Trapped On Trestle
CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 26 (AP)—Two youngsters playing on a trestle near their home were killed by a train today — apparently because they raised up to watch the train pass.

David Lee Wullner, 7, and his brother Richard, 4, were killed outright.

George Kibler, engineer of the Rock Island train which struck the lads, said it was not possible to stop. He said when the boys saw they were trapped they lay down on the trestle ties beside the track.

Kibler said the front of the locomotive passed over them safely but they were struck by the steps from the cab when they apparently raised up to look. The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wullner, have six other children.

Viscose Profits Soar
PHILADELPHIA, March 26 (AP)—American Viscose Corp. today reported net profits for 1955 of $24,709,000 or $4.66 a share, compared with $10,487,000 or $1.85 a share the previous year.

Subcommittee Would Expand Ike Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A House subcommittee proposed today the construction of 50,000 low rent public housing units each year for three years.

It called, too, for an additional 10,000 low rent units in each of the three years for persons over 65 years of age.

The proposal compares with the Eisenhower administration bill, submitted Feb. 27, for 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years.

The subcommittee on banking is headed by Rep. Rains (D-Ala.). Rains said the administration plan is "inadequate and halfhearted." He also said his bill was the product of "eight months of labor" by the subcommittee, and was "not the product of ivory tower bureaucrats."

Another subcommittee heard a proposal that federally aided public housing be set at a level of 10 per cent of all housing production. This would mean 120,000 to 130,000 public housing units a year.

The proposal to the Senate group was made by Robert D. Sippell of Buffalo, president of the National Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, an organization of local housing officials.

Public housing units are constructed by housing authorities set up by cities or other local governments, and the federal government pays a subsidy to keep the rents low.

Three Lost As Plane
Plunges Into River
MASONTOWN, Pa., March 26 (INS)—The Monongahela River today claimed its third military aircraft in 15 months — a crippled twin-engine Navy bomber which nosed into the muddy bottom, presumably drowning all three crewmen.

The anti-submarine bomber was one of two en route from Columbus, Ohio, to Quonset Point, Rhode Island, to run into trouble in a snow squall. The other ship made an emergency landing at Youngstown, Ohio.

Harriman, Symington Each
Get Boost For Nomination
[By The Associated Press]
Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri each got a boost yesterday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Frank E. McKinney, who was the Democratic national chairman until Adlai Stevenson became the nominee in 1952, said at Indianapolis that he is for Harriman.

"If and when he announces," McKinney said, "he will find that has quite a militant group working for him in the states west of the Alleghenies."

Harriman, vacationing in Florida, declined to comment on McKinney's statement. So far the only announced, full-fledged candidates are Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Symington's boost came from the Missouri Democratic State Committee. Meeting at Jefferson City, it endorsed the senator as a "favorite son" candidate.

The action does not pledge Missouri's 38 convention votes to Symington. That question will be before the state convention May 28. Incidentally, one of the national convention delegates will be former President Truman.

Another man boomed for favorite son designation, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, said at Washington that whether he is given that role is "up to the people of Texas." Speaker Rayburn, a Texan, among others, had advocated that Johnson be the Texas delegation chairman and its favorite son.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said Sunday he would be happy to head the Texas delegation even if that entailed competing with Johnson for the honor.

Eisenhower Meets Canada, Mexico Chiefs

Matters Of Mutual
Interest Discussed
At Informal Dinner

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower, the Prime Minister of Canada and the President of Mexico opened talks tonight at a good neighbor conference symbolizing North American unity.

Diplomats of all three countries said privately the discussions would be in the most general terms, covering world problems and hemisphere security. The meetings will continue through tomorrow.

Eisenhower, Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines met together first at 7:30 p.m. and then continued their talks at a dinner where Eisenhower was host.

Eisenhower's special train pulled in from Washington at 7:30 a.m., and he got in a round of golf with top notcher Sammy Snead while awaiting the arrival of his guests.

No Agenda Prepared

Just before Ruiz Cortines and St. Laurent checked in at the conference headquarters, the swanky Greenbrier Hotel, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty repeated that no agenda has been prepared for the sessions.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had asked him to tell newsmen the meeting was called "for the purpose of getting to know each other better."

The President added, Hagerty reported, that the cordial informality could be compared to a gathering where "two neighbors drop in to dinner — people living on either side of the house."

St. Laurent arrived from Ottawa eight and a half hours after Eisenhower got in, and Ruiz Cortines came on the scene an hour after the Canadian leader. Ruiz Cortines flew from Mexico City to Charleston, W. Va., in Eisenhower's four-engine private plane, Columbine III, then was ferried here in a smaller plane.

Ike Welcomes His Guests
Eisenhower went out on the walk in front of the hotel to welcome both his guests.

"Welcome to the Greenbrier," he told St. Laurent. "You are looking well. I sent a delegation to the airport to meet you, but I thought I'd come out this far."

Smiling broadly, the Prime Minister replied: "It's always a great pleasure to shake hands with you Mr. President."

Sixty minutes later the President walked to the curb to shake hands with Ruiz Cortines as he stepped from his limousine.

"Glad to see you again," the beaming Eisenhower told his visitor. They first met in dedicating Falon Dam on the U. S.-Mexican border in October 1953.

Ruiz Cortines, who spoke mostly through an interpreter, replied in English that he was glad to see Eisenhower.

Greek Cypriots Bomb Home, Car

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 26 (AP)—Greek Cypriots tonight resumed their campaign of violence against British rule after a day of comparative calm.

Authorities reported three bombings that caused damage but no casualties.

An especially daring attack was made on the home of a British soldier in the village of Berengaria, near Limassol. A bomb exploded on the porch, showering occupants with shattered glass. The attackers escaped in the dark.

Two bombs were hurled at a passing British patrol car in Ayios Andronikos but they exploded harmlessly. Ayios Andronikos is in the Famagusta district, not far from Nicosia where a British soldier was killed in a similar incident last week.

The attacks followed threats by Greek-origin Cypriots of a step-up in their anti-British campaign.

Tunisian Moderates Claim Election Sweep

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 26 (AP)—The Moderate National Front today claimed a complete victory in Tunisia's legislative elections.

All but seven per cent of the 750,000 registered voters balloted in the elections yesterday and the National Front won all 98 seats in the Constituent Assembly.

It was the first such elections Tunisia has held since this French North African protectorate received a formal pledge of independence from Paris last week.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 26 (AP)—Two youngsters playing on a trestle near their home were killed by a train today — apparently because they raised up to watch the train pass.

David Lee Wullner, 7, and his brother Richard, 4, were killed outright.

George Kibler, engineer of the Rock Island train which struck the lads, said it was not possible to stop. He said when the boys saw they were trapped they lay down on the trestle beside the track.

Kibler said the front of the locomotive passed over them safely, but they were struck by the steps from the cab when they apparently raised up to look. The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wullner, have six other children.

U.N. Delays Mideast Peace Mission Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The U. N. Security Council agreed today to postpone final action until next week on a United States plan to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a special peace mission to the Middle East.

The decision was reached after Israel and four of her Arab neighbors—Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Egypt—had asked permission to state their views on the proposal. They told delegates privately that they would not be ready to speak before next week at the earliest.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. opened today's meeting by appealing for urgent action to meet what he called the most serious challenge ever faced by the U. N.

Russia Favors Delay

It soon became apparent, however, that several delegates, including Arkady A. Sobolev of Soviet Russia, wanted to hear the Israeli and Arab representatives before taking a final position on the U. S. proposal.

This view was presented finally in a formal proposal by Iranian Delegate Djafar Abdom who called for a recess until Tuesday, April 3, to permit the Middle East countries to prepare their statements.

After protests by Lodge and by Australian Delegate E. Ronald Walker against such a long delay, it was finally agreed to meet again on Wednesday of this week with the understanding that no action would be taken at least until a second meeting scheduled for April 3.

Plan's Approval Expected

There still was no indication that the delay would sidetrack the expected approval of the U. S. plan, which calls for the secretary general to survey the situation and undertake whatever negotiations he finds necessary.

At this afternoon's session, Britain, France and Australia quickly lined up behind the American proposal. Some others, while reserving final comment until later, endorsed the plan in principle. These included Peru, Iran and Belgium.

Harriman, Symington Each Get Boost For Nomination

[By The Associated Press]
Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri each got a boost yesterday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Frank E. McKinney, who was the Democratic national chairman until Adlai Stevenson became the nominee in 1952, said at Indianapolis that he is for Harriman.

"If and when he announces," McKinney said, "he will find that he has quite a militant group working for him in the states west of the Alleghenies."

Harriman, vacationing in Florida, declined to comment on McKinney's statement. So far the only announced, full-fledged candidates are Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Symington's boost came from the Missouri Democratic State

Subcommittee Would Expand Ike Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A House subcommittee proposed today the construction of 50,000 low rent public housing units each year for three years.

It called, too, for an additional 10,000 low rent units in each of the three years for persons over 65 years of age.

The proposal compares with the Eisenhower administration bill, submitted Feb. 27, for 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years.

The subcommittee on banking is headed by Rep. Rains (D-Ala.). Rains said the administration plan is "inadequate and halfhearted." He also said his bill was the product of "eight months of labor" by the subcommittee, and was "not the product of ivory tower bureaucrats."

Also today, a Senate Housing subcommittee heard a proposal that federally aided public housing be set at a level of 10 per cent of all housing production. This would mean 120,000 to 130,000 public housing units a year.

The proposal to the Senate group was made by Robert D. Sippell of Buffalo, president of the National Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, an organization of local housing officials.

Public housing units are constructed by housing authorities set up by cities or other local governments, and the federal government pays a subsidy to keep the rents low.

Three Lost As Plane Plunges Into River

MASONTOWN, Pa., March 26 (INS)—The Monongahela River today claimed its third military aircraft in 15 months—a crippled twin-engine Navy bomber which nosed into the muddy bottom, presumably drowning all three crewmen.

The anti-submarine bomber was one of two en route from Columbus, Ohio, to Quonset Point, Rhode Island, to run into trouble in a snow squall. The other ship made an emergency landing at Youngstown, Ohio.

Two bombs were hurled at a passing British patrol car in Ayios Andronikos but they exploded harmlessly. Ayios Andronikos is in the Famagusta district, not far from Yialousa where a British soldier was killed in a similar incident last week.

The attacks followed threats by Greek-origin Cypriots of a step-up in their anti-British campaign.

Tunisian Moderates Claim Election Sweep

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 26 (AP)—The Moderate National Front today claimed a complete victory in Tunisia's legislative elections.

All but seven per cent of the 750,000 registered voters balloted in the elections yesterday and the National Front won all 98 seats in the Constituent Assembly.

It was the first such elections Tunisia has held since its French North African protectorate received a formal pledge of independence from Paris last week.

Eisenhower Meets Canada, Mexico Chiefs

Matters Of Mutual
Interest Discussed
At Informal Dinner

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower, the Prime Minister of Canada and the President of Mexico opened talks tonight at a good neighbor conference symbolizing North American unity.

Diplomats of all three countries said privately the discussions would be in the most general terms, covering world problems and hemisphere security. The meetings will continue through tomorrow.

Eisenhower, Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines met together first at 7:30 p.m. and then continued their talks at a dinner where Eisenhower was host.

Eisenhower's special train pulled in from Washington at 7:30 a.m., and he got in a round of golf with top notcher Sammy Snead while awaiting the arrival of his guests.

No Agenda Prepared

Just before Ruiz Cortines and St. Laurent checked in at the conference headquarters, the awfully Greenbrier Hotel, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty repeated that no agenda has been prepared for the sessions.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had asked him to tell newsmen the meeting was called "for the purpose of getting to know each other better."

The President added, Hagerty reported, that the cordial informality could be compared to a gathering where "two neighbors drop in to dinner — people living on either side of the house."

St. Laurent arrived from Ottawa eight and a half hours after Eisenhower got in, and Ruiz Cortines came on the scene an hour after the Canadian leader. Ruiz Cortines flew from Mexico City to Charleston, W. Va., in Eisenhower's four-engine private plane, Columbine III, then was ferried here in a smaller plane.

Ike Welcomes His Guests

Eisenhower went out on the walk in front of the hotel to welcome both his guests.

"Welcome to the Greenbrier," he told St. Laurent. "You are looking well. I sent a delegation to the airport to meet you, but I thought I'd come out this far."

Smiling broadly, the Prime Minister replied: "It's always a great pleasure to shake hands with you Mr. President."

Sixty minutes later the President walked to the curb to shake hands with Ruiz Cortines as he stepped from his limousine.

"Glad to see you again," the beaming Eisenhower told his visitor. They first met in dedicating Falon Dam on the U. S.-Mexican border in October 1953.

Ruiz Cortines, who spoke mostly through an interpreter, replied in English that he was glad to see Eisenhower.

Greek Cypriots Bomb Home, Car

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 26 (AP)—Greek Cypriots tonight resumed their campaign of violence against British rule after a day of comparative calm.

Authorities reported three bombings that caused damage but no casualties.

An especially daring attack was made on the home of a British soldier in the village of Berengaria, near Limassol. A bomb exploded on the porch, showering occupants with shattered glass. The attackers escaped in the dark.

Two bombs were hurled at a passing British patrol car in Ayios Andronikos but they exploded harmlessly. Ayios Andronikos is in the Famagusta district, not far from Yialousa where a British soldier was killed in a similar incident last week.

The attacks followed threats by Greek-origin Cypriots of a step-up in their anti-British campaign.

Spring Employment Pickup Is Expected

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Labor Department reported today that employers in most major job areas look for "a relatively brisk pickup" in employment this spring.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said employers in most sections of the country have advised local public employment offices they will need additional workers over the next few months to meet planned production scheduled.

Mitchell said a recent survey by the Labor Department and state employment agencies showed that all but 19 of 149 major labor market areas anticipate job gains running to mid-May.

According to the survey, in most of the 19 centers expecting job declines, the decrease will amount to only a few hundred each. Some, like Miami, have seasonal downturns.

Employment this January and February already is running more than 2½ million ahead of the same winter months of 1955. Therefore, the general optimistic employment outlook for this spring may indicate summer job totals ahead of last year's high level. Employment reached a record 65,489,000 last August.

Predictions for job gains in the next few months are based largely on the usual springtime revival in outdoor work such as construction, lumbering and farming.

But factory industries are also due to share in the gains. Two-thirds of the major areas covered by the survey have scheduled slight-to-moderate manufacturing increases between March and May.

Some modest hiring improvement was forecast even in the auto industry where car producers and related suppliers released nearly 100,000 workers in January and February, mostly in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

French Replace Moroccan Units

PARIS, March 26 (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet said today some Moroccan units of the French army proved unreliable in Algeria and had to be replaced.

Explaining why forces fighting rebels in Algeria had to be reinforced Mollet told a televised news conference:

"It is regrettable but it must be said that some Moroccan battalions showed they could not be used."

Some Moroccans, recruited mainly from the hard-fighting tribes in the Atlas Mountains were reported to have deserted to the rebels. French authorities have been reluctant to publicize the desertions.

Moroccan nationalists only recently won their own battle for freedom. France granted the protectorate independence after a long struggle marked by guerrilla violence and several full-scale battles with mountain tribes.

The French also have been having trouble with their Algerian units, once counted among the toughest and most loyal in the French army. Desertions from their ranks have been reported hampering operations against the rebels.

U.S. Offers Plan To Lessen Fear Of Sneak Attack

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—The United States proposed today that nations joining in a disarmament agreement should give advance notice to the world if they send armed men outside their borders.

The suggestion was made by Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's adviser on disarmament questions at the 72nd meeting of the subcommittee of the Disarmament Commission.

It was advanced as another American contribution to studies of the five-power negotiators who are trying to reduce armaments and preserve peace.

Speaking to representatives of Russia, Britain, France and Canada at Lancaster House, Stassen stressed the American concern that in an atomic age a war might start with a sneak attack by a power staking all on a devastating initial blow. Russia on several occasions has expressed similar fears.

Danger of a surprise attack would be reduced greatly if nations were obliged to tell in advance of plans to move forces into foreign countries, or into international waters and air space, the Americans argued.

The notification plan would be part of international inspection schemes which are the basis of other proposals before the conference.

Essential to the notification arrangement would be the establishment of communications centers in four or five places in the world where there would constantly be an up-to-date chart of excursions abroad of anybody's land, sea or air forces.

Priest Freed By Reds And Mother Reunited

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP)—The Rev. Harold W. Rigney, who spent four years in a Chinese Communist prison, came home today.

"My son, my dear son," cried his mother, Mrs. Addie Rigney, 77. There were tears in her eyes.

The Roman Catholic priest ran from a plane at Midway Airport into the arms of Mrs. Rigney. They embraced and kissed.

Mrs. Rigney said, "This is the answer to my prayers."

Father Rigney, 56, was released by the Chinese six months ago. He remained in Hong Kong for a time to recuperate and then flew to the United States via Rome, where he had an audience with the Pope.

He was rector of a university in Peking before his arrest on espionage charges.

Girls Who Killed Detention Home Matron Sentenced

AKRON, Ohio, March 26 (AP)—Five teen-age girls today were sentenced to 1-20 years for slaying a matron they overpowered to escape from a detention home.

They pleaded guilty to manslaughter charges before Common Pleas Judge Ray B. Watters. He sentenced Ruth Beichler, 17, and Zelda de Cost, 16, to the Marysville Reformatory for Women. Shirley Shingler, Margaret Nicholson and Miriam Gain, all 15, will be put in the Girls Industrial School at Delaware until they reach 16, when they will be transferred to the Marysville institution.

The girls overpowered Mrs. Eula Bonham, matron at the Summit County Detention Home, and stuffed an ammonia-soaked rag in her mouth before escaping from the home last Nov. 27. They were recaptured a short time later.

Cost Of Living Is Unchanged

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Some grocery prices continued downhill last month, but other consumer costs went up to leave the nation's living cost index for February unchanged from January.

The Labor Department reported today that food prices dropped four-tenths of one per cent from January, their fifth consecutive monthly decline. This brought average food prices to their lowest point since December, 1950.

The living cost index kept by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics stayed at the same level in February as in January—114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base period. This is slightly above February, 1955.

A sharp drop in egg prices featured the February food cost decline, with smaller decreases for beef, frankfurters and fish. Prices advanced for pork, poultry, foods and vegetables, canned juices, bakery products and coffee.

Buffalo Bring Top Price At Md. Sale

HAGERSTOWN, March 26 (AP)—"What am I bid for three buffalo?" cried auctioneer Lewis W. Renner. What he got was higher than the going rate for cattle.

The diversified livestock sale came Saturday at the farm of A. H. Davidson near Clear Spring, about 10 miles west of here.

Davidson bought the buffalo, three elks and three deer in the west several years ago and turned them out to graze with his cattle. The deer brought $50 each at an earlier sale.

Saturday the buffalo brought $226 a head, and the elks—two heifers and a bull—brought $190 a head, Renner said. And he added he'd never seen so many people at a farm sale. He estimated about 4,000 came.

Renner said top price for steers in the area was $200 a head.

Real Estate Man Changes Mind In Access Row

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—J. Donaldson Parr, real estate promoter who has been disputing the State Roads Commission's right to bar his access to Revell Highway, turned out today with a tractor and power saw prepared to cut down the State's barricade. But he changed his mind.

Donaldson claims access to about 20 acres of land along the highway leading to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The roads commission says that section of highway is "nonaccess" and put heavy wooden posts across a dirt road leading to the tract.

At 10 a.m. today, Parr approached the barricade with the tractor, an assistant and a power saw. He was greeted by two State policemen, Lt. W. W. Corbin and First Sgt. H. M. Everline, and an attorney, William J. McWilliams.

Parr had his workman start the tractor and he moved toward the barricade, his saw at the ready. "It is only fair to warn you," Sgt. Everline told Parr, "that if you cut the posts it will be destruction of State property."

The sergeant added that it would be a felony and could cost Parr as much as 20 years in prison.

Parr stopped, looked at the sergeant and thought it over. The tractor and Parr with his power saw beat a hasty retreat.

Parr said later he would talk with his lawyers and take the problem to court.

The skirmish was the liveliest of several in a running battle between Parr and the SRC. Should he win his court case, the effects could well be statewide.

Parr claims he has a right to enter the nonaccess thoroughfares because the roads commission did not follow through on an option to acquire some 1,300 feet of right-of-way four years ago.

Free World Losing In Asia, Romulo Says

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States, said today the free world is losing the battle for Asia.

"We are now engaged in a life and death global struggle, the greatest of its kind in recorded history," Romulo told a Maryland Day convocation at the University of Maryland. "The American way of life is in jeopardy."

The free world's greatest blow in the battle was the loss of China, and her 650 million people, he said.

Russia must first conquer Asia before it can win world domination, said Romulo, who is a former president of the United Nations General Assembly.

U. Of Md. Suspends Youth Who Quit ROTC Classes

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union said today it will seek to have reinstated a University of Maryland student who was suspended for refusing on religious grounds to attend military training classes.

An attorney said a change in university policy would be sought "before taking any legal action" to have 19-year-old Alan Barry Carr readmitted.

Carr is the son of Rev. James S. Carr, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical Reformed Church in Baltimore.

The youth said university officials have informed him he would not be allowed to continue in the university unless he returned to Reserve Officer Training Corps classes. The sophomore agriculture student has attended the classes for three semesters.

Young Carr said "I object to the courses on religious grounds. I am a conscientious objector and expect to register that way with selective service."

The youth said he began protesting the course a year and a half ago.

Carr said after a meeting last Saturday, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university told him "he had no choice but to suspend me until I returned to ROTC classes."

Carr believes if he continues with ROTC "the draft board will not believe I am sincere when I

The Labor Department reported today that food prices dropped four-tenths of one per cent from January, their fifth consecutive monthly decline. This brought average food prices to their lowest point since December, 1950.

The living cost index kept by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics stayed at the same level in February as in January—114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base period. This is slightly above February, 1955.

A sharp drop in egg prices featured the February food cost decline, with smaller decreases for beef, frankfurters and fish. Prices advanced for pork, poultry, foods and vegetables, canned juices, bakery products and coffee.

Buffalo Bring Top Price At Md. Sale

HAGERSTOWN, March 26 (AP)—"What am I bid for three buffalo?" cried auctioneer Lewis W. Renner.

What he got was higher than the going rate for cattle.

The diversified livestock sale came Saturday at the farm of A. H. Davidson near Clear Spring, about 10 miles west of here.

Davidson bought the buffalo, three elks and three deer in the west several years ago and turned them out to graze with his cattle. The deer brought $50 each at an earlier sale.

Saturday the buffalo brought $225 a head, and the elks—two heifers and a bull—brought $190 a head, Renner said. And he added he'd never seen so many people at a farm sale. He estimated about 4,000 came.

Renner said top price for steers in the area was $200 a head.

"Also on Friday, it was established that President Eisenhower would use Chessie 29 for his trip Sunday night. Up to that time the C & O had kept a second car, No. 23, standing by on the basis that its bedroom arrangement might be more suitable for the group making the trip."

Real Estate Man Changes Mind In Access Row

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—J. Donaldson Parr, real estate promoter who has been disputing the State Roads Commission's right to bar his access to Revell Highway, turned out today with a tractor and power saw prepared to cut down the State's barricade. But he changed his mind.

Donaldson claims access to about 20 acres of land along the highway leading to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

The roads commission says that section of highway is "nonaccess" and put heavy wooden posts across a dirt road leading to the tract.

At 10 a.m. today, Parr approached the barricade with the tractor, an assistant and a power saw. He was greeted by two State policemen, Lt. W. W. Corbin and First Sgt. H. M. Everline, and an attorney, William J. McWilliams.

Parr had his workman start the tractor and he moved toward the barricade, his saw at the ready. "It is only fair to warn you," Sgt. Everline told Parr, "that if you cut the posts it will be destruction of State property."

The sergeant added that it would be a felony and could cost Parr as much as 20 years in prison.

Parr stopped, looked at the sergeant and thought it over. The tractor and Parr with his power saw beat a hasty retreat. Parr said later he would talk with his lawyers and take the problem to court.

The skirmish was the liveliest of several in a running battle between Parr and the SRC. Should he win his court case, the effects could well be statewide.

Parr claims he has a right to enter the nonaccess thoroughfares because the roads commission did not follow through on an option to acquire some 1,300 feet of right-of-way four years ago.

Free World Losing In Asia, Romulo Says

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States, said today the free world is losing the battle for Asia.

"We are now engaged in a life and death global struggle, the greatest of its kind in recorded history," Romulo told a Maryland Day convention at the University of Maryland. "The American way of life is in jeopardy."

The free world's greatest blow in the battle was the loss of China, and her 650 million people, he said.

Russia must first conquer Asia before it can win world domination, said Romulo, who is a former president of the United Nations General Assembly.

U. Of Md. Suspends Youth Who Quit ROTC Classes

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union said today it will seek to have reinstated a University of Maryland student who was suspended for refusing on religious grounds to attend military training classes.

An attorney said a change in university policy would be sought "before taking any legal action" to have 19-year-old Alan Barry Carr readmitted.

Carr is the son of Rev. James S. Carr, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical Reformed Church in Baltimore.

The youth said university officials have informed him he would not be allowed to continue in the university unless he returned to Reserve Officer Training Corps classes. The sophomore agriculture student has attended the classes for three semesters.

Young Carr said "I object to the courses on religious grounds. I am a conscientious objector and expect to register that way with selective service."

The youth said he began protesting the course a year and a half ago.

Carr said after a meeting last Saturday, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university told him "he had no choice but to suspend me until I returned to ROTC classes."

Carr believes if he continues with ROTC "the draft board will not believe I am sincere when I ask to be classed as a conscientious objector and assigned to civilian work."

The classes are compulsory at Maryland. Fred E. Weisgal, attorney and chairman for the Maryland branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, said 22 land grant colleges such as Maryland provide that religious objectors be released from ROTC and be required to take another course.

Weisgal said that in 1933 the Superior Court of Baltimore held that students could not be required to take the classes if they violated their conscience but the Court of Appeals reversed the decision.

Civil Service Board Asked To Hold Stenographer Test

The Mayor and Council yesterday asked the Civil Service Commission to hold examination to establish an eligible list for the position of senior stenographer. At the same time, it accepted a commission report listing three eligibles for the position of assistant to the recreation director. Those eligible for appointment in order named are Mrs. Eva M. Hogan who is acting assistant, Ella

May Smith and Dorothy E. Heavener. The examination was conducted March 19.

Three matters were referred to the Police Department. Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn was given power to act on application of Retail Merchants Association to string a banner on Baltimore Street to advertise "Old Fashioned Bargain Days" April 23-30; and the St. Mary's CYO for a banner across Oldtown Road to advertise its spring festival at the school grounds April 25-May 5.

Chief Flynn was ordered to investigate and report back on the application of Cumberland Auxiliary Police to sponsor King Brothers Circus here May 28. Auxiliary Police Chairman Lonnie Jackson, said a street parade is also planned if approved.

City officials pointed out, however, that there is no way to waive the five-cent city amusement tax for the circus. The police unit had asked exemption from the requirement since proceeds will go toward purchase of equipment.

City Will Get State Report On Fluoridation

The State Department of Health is preparing a report on fluorine in city water supplies and will submit copies to members of the Mayor and Council soon.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, answering a question from Commissioner William V. Keegan on the addition of fluorine to the city's water supply, said he believed the report will make the situation clear. Finance Commissioner John J. Long and Keegan said they both had received inquiries concerning the city's plans.

Council has approved addition of fluorine to water and equipment has been installed at Lake Gordon. But details remain to be worked out. Also contributing to the delay has been the change in flow necessitated by alterations at the water plant, it was pointed out.

Keegan, on another matter, asked Mayor Eves to check reports that on busy days, the Astor Cab Company, which also operates local ambulance service, has not answered telephones. Keegan said some method should be devised—perhaps a direct line—whereby the ambulance could be summoned independently in event of an emergency.

Peter Vander Lugt, 314 Holland Street, appeared to ask correction of a condition in an alley next to his home. He said a stream of water which flows down the alley in dry or wet weather, carries mud and stones onto his sidewalk and into Holland Street. Commissioner William H. Buchholz said a check would be made looking to correcting the condition permanently.

Mayor Eves was authorized to execute a lease with the International Compost Corp., for a tract of land fronting 196 feet on Limestone Road at a $50 yearly rental. This would be subject to renewal in favor of the lessee. Involved is part of the tract recently purchased by the city from Edgar H. Grove and which adjoins the garbage dump.

Tree Law Proposed

An ordinance to govern the planting of trees in an effort to reduce damages to sewers and sidewalks caused by roots has been proposed to the Mayor and Council by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz.

Buchholz, at yesterday's pre-council meeting, discussed the overall problem by approaching it from the Frederick Street angle. He said in the new section of the improved Frederick Street where there is a grass plot, a tree had been planted. However, neighbors complained and while removal of the tree is agreeable, Buchholz said some policy should be established.

In opposing planting of any trees, Buchholz pointed to the possibility at some later date of the Frederick Street grass plot being torn up to install a water line. It was emphasized this is only a possibility.

Under the proposed ordinance, in places where there is no tree, a new plant would be required to be five feet in back of the inner sidewalk line on private property.

If a tree is removed and replanted, the ordinance would require the property owner to assume liability in event any city utility (sewer, water, etc.) is damaged by roots in the future. The city would also have the power to remove trees and the property owner would be responsible for cost.

Council Receives Property Report

City officials have received a full report on costs of each property involved in the proposed Southview recreation area.

Two local realtors, Howard M. Spiker and James W. Beacham who obtained options, explained to council the difference between the assessed value and the asking price of the 147 parcels of land. Mayor Roy W. Eves said.

Cost of the property has been set at $78,000 which brought from some members of the council last week the statement they believed the price out of line.

The money would come from the $150,000 recreation bond issue. It is estimated that an additional $40,000 to $50,000 would be needed to develop the area as planned. No decision was reached by council, Eves added.

YOU'LL GET A REAL BOOT OUT OF THIS BEAUTY

(Just switch the pitch and see)

WE'LL grant that you'll get a kick from just looking at a new Buick—it's that kind of automobile.

But you'll have to take the wheel, turn the key and press that pedal before you get any idea what this sizzler on wheels can do to your spirits and well-being.

It will take you only a handful of happy minutes to get the idea.

Just nudge the pedal—no more than a gas-saving inch—and you'll feel the instant new getaway that's yours with the new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* even before you switch the pitch.

Just find a spot where you can safely and legally call out the reserves—then floor the pedal. That switches the pitch instantly—and in the same split-second you're at full-power acceleration and sweeping ahead like you never did before in any other earth-bound vehicle.

And all the while, just lend an attentive ear to the whispered might of that big 322-cubic-inch V8 that powers this spectacular performance. For that's the smoothest, the quietest and the highest-powered engine, Series for Series, in all Buick history.

There's more, of course, to make the thrills come thick and fast when you're bossing the best Buick yet.

There's the deep, soft comfort of big interiors—and the sweet and solid steadiness of that great Buick ride.

There's the grace of line you can see stretching before you—and the sure and nimble way this beauty handles and corners and tracks and targets to the road.

So come be our guest at the wheel of a spanking-new Buick—just for fun and kicks and a new excitement. And if you feel this is the car for you, we'll show you prices and a deal that say it's yours for sure. Drop in today or tomorrow, won't you?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Boy's Story Of Stabbing Proves False

The stabbing in the back of a local 15-year-old youth on Saturday evening turned out to be an accident, City Police said after questioning the boy and his alleged assailant.

Raymond Vanetta of 455 Bond Street admitted to authorities that his story about three Negro boys in an auto stabbing him in an alley between Fulton and Glenn Street was false.

The boy was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital. On Sunday night he was questioned at length by Sgt. Clarence Roby and Officer E. Gordon Hite.

Another 15-year-old local boy was arrested by police on Sunday and during questioning admitted he was the youth who cut Vanetta, but said it was an accident.

Vanetta told Sgt. Roby and Officer Hite that he and the other boy were talking on the steps of Central YMCA when the boy showed him a knife.

The victim said the boy told him he couldn't take the knife away from him, and during the scuffle which ensued, Vanetta fell back against the blade and was cut.

Vanetta told police the boy said he was sorry and offered to take him to the hospital. He said he refused, went home and told his parents the story about being knifed by three Negroes in the alley.

Both boys will be given a hearing tomorrow morning in Juvenile Court.

Meeting With Opponents To Precede Crossing Vote

The Mayor and Council will meet Friday with opponents of the plan to install flashing lights and automatic gates at four B & O crossings here in preparation for a final vote Monday on an ordinance providing for the program.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the city has invited organizations and individuals who wrote letters of protest to send representatives to the meeting at 10 a. m. in City Hall.

The ordinance was read yesterday for the first time and Mayor Eves said the second and third readings will be heard next Monday.

The ordinance calls for the installations adjacent to B&O tracks which cross Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin streets. It also specifies that sections of the city code pertaining to watchmen at crossings is complete and has received approval of the city engineer.

Labor unions of the city have voiced concern over the displacement of these watchmen and either opposed the plan for that and safety reasons or urged council to seek some action whereby employment of the watchmen would be protected.

Cost of installing the lights and gates, estimated at $100,000, would be borne by the railroad. Should the city desire to coordinate the Knox, Valley and Pear installations with its traffic signal on Henderson Avenue, the city will buy and install signals but thereafter cost of the signals and installation would be paid over by the railroad to the city. Cost of coordinating would be borne by the railroad but cost of maintenance by the city, the ordinance continues.

Should this ordinance be approved, other provisions in the city code dealing with crossings would be repealed.

Boy's Story Of Stabbing Proves False

The stabbing in the back of a local 15-year-old youth on Saturday evening turned out to be an accident, City Police said after questioning the boy and his alleged assailant.

Raymond Vanetta, of 455 Bond Street admitted to authorities that his story about three Negro boys in an auto stabbing him in an alley between Fulton and Glenn Street was false.

The boy was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital. On Sunday night he was questioned at length by Sgt. Clarence Roby and Officer E. Gordon Hite.

Another 15-year-old local boy was arrested by police on Sunday and during questioning admitted he was the youth who cut Vanetta, but said it was an accident.

Vanetta told Sgt. Roby and Officer Hite that he and the other boy were talking on the steps of Central YMCA when the boy showed him a knife.

The victim said the boy told him he couldn't take the knife away from him, and during the scuffle which ensued, Vanetta felt back against the blade and was cut.

Vanetta told police the boy said he was sorry and offered to take him to the hospital. He said he refused, went home and told his parents the story about being knifed by three Negroes in the alley.

Both boys will be given a hearing tomorrow morning in Juvenile Court.

Turk-Greek Trouble Was To Be Expected

In the mounting tension on the island of Cyprus, perhaps outbreaks between the 80 per cent Greek majority and the 20 per cent Turkish minority were only to be expected. The two races have a tradition of animosity that is accentuated by differences in religion.

To go back only half a century, the Greeks and the Turks were on opposite sides in the first Balkan War of 1912-13, during and after which hundreds of thousands of Greek refugees fled Turkish soil. The two countries were military opponents also in World War I, after which Greek armies, with British encouragement, advanced into both European and Asiatic Turkey.

The Greeks had some victories in the summer of 1920 and the spring of 1921, but in the summer of 1922 the revitalized Turkish armies under Mustafa Kemal drove the Greek armies before them all the way to the Mediterranean. The Sultan was deposed, the Allies abandoned Constantinople to the Turks, in 1923 a Turkish-Greek agreement provided for compulsory exchange of populations between the two countries.

Turkey in 1930 made Greece a monetary payment to settle the two-way claims arising from the migrations of their populations. But there was still little love lost between the two peoples, and last September in riots at Ankara, Istanbul (Constantinople) and Izmir (Smyrna) hundreds of Greeks were seriously manhandled by Turks, as an offshoot of the tensions on Cyprus.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Things To Ask About

I always thought that whoever worked for the State Department was a diplomat or a consul or a clerk who coded and decoded messages. I had been accustomed to think of the State Department as being a foreign service, as looking after the international relations of the country, as trying to maintain the peace whereas the Department of Defense prepared for war.

But now I receive a complaint from the American Chemical Society that the State Department's scientific corps has deteriorated. Apparently, there used to be scientists in the State Department whose business it could have been to tell the secretary of state what a molecule is, but alas! they have all been fired and now the secretary of state will have no one to tell him what a molecule is except the under secretary of state who knew such things long before he became a diplomat.

Apparently—and most Americans, I am sure never heard of it—there was an International Science Steering Committee which was headed by an engineer, Lloyd V. Berkner. This committee advised the State Department to have scientists in the State Department and as Berkner is a very distinguished man in his field, his advice was accepted; so 10 scientists were appointed to the embassies in London, Stockholm, Paris and Tokyo. What they did there, the mimeograph before me does not say, except that they were very important and that the service should be continued.

It strikes me that with all the varied scientists available in the government, in universities and in private enterprise, if the government needs to get hold of one for some special purpose, as, for instance, to prime the President on heavy water of plankton or something like that, it ought to be possible to pull the biggest authority on the subject out of a filing cabinet and bring him down to Washington or send him abroad. It is like when the family doctor needs to convince you that you are very sick and you have serious doubts on the subject, he brings in a specialist who tells you that if you don't listen to him, you will surely die. The family doctor always knows the name and telephone number of an available specialist. It would seem to me that the administration in Washington could have similar information about all kinds of scientists.

Much of this excitement over scientists as diplomats undoubtedly arises from all this atomic business and the need for having someone around who can talk scientific jargon which is a language all on its own and requires considerable study even to be able to read a page in a chemistry or a physics book. Everything since Einstein has been made so complicated that what one has learned in his youth no longer helps much. So even if we had educated ambassadors, they would be stuck when they saw it all put out in Greek letters with parentheses all around everything and little numerals on the side.

But it is possible to hire an expert to translate most of this stuff into English and even a foreigner will do, since now there are no more secrets, everything having either been stolen or given away.

But why fire only the scientists? There are all sorts of surplus baggage attached to every embassy, people who have nothing to do with our foreign relations but live abroad on an expense account and buy their cigars at an embassy PX. Somebody ought to discover how these extra attaches have messed up American foreign relations because it would seem that wherever they are most numerous and spend the most money, the United States is most disliked by the natives.

In England, for instance, where we have an enormous staff and spend money all over the place, we are hardly understood by the populace at all, and I can recall listening to an argument on a street in London, after a political meeting, in the course of which a Communist asked, "Who keeps bases in this country, the U. S. or the U. S. S. R.?" And there was no one to tell him that those bases were there to keep England from being conquered.

So what do we have the attaches there for? What do they do for us? What do they tell the people?

Big Commotion At The Far End Of The Stable

Voters Are Indifferent About Primary Elections

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Why did so many people stay away from the polls in Minnesota last week? Do the American voters regard primaries as of little importance?

More Republicans than Democrats failed to vote, and this may have been due to the existence of a contest inside the Democratic party, whereas there was no such contest inside the Republican party. But it still doesn't explain the absence of more than one-third of the Democratic vote cast for U. S. senator in the final election of 1954, when Senator Humphrey won 75 per cent stayed home.

Some idea of the large number of voters of both parties who ignored the presidential primary can be gotten by comparing the approximately 196,000 votes cast by Republicans this week as against 763,211 for Eisenhower in the final election of 1952 and the 785,649 votes obtained by Senator Thye, Republican, when he ran ahead of Mr. Eisenhower to win in that same election. This means that in this year's presidential primary in Minnesota, approximately 75 per cent of the Republicans who voted in 1952 didn't show up at the polls.

In the Democratic party primary, where the organization was hard at work and a bitter contest between Stevenson and Kefauver was in progress, the proportion of Democrats voting was higher than among the Republicans. But the total of about 420,000 for both Democratic candidates was far below the 642,193 which Senator Humphrey got in 1954 and also far below the 608,458 which Stevenson himself polled against Eisenhower in 1952.

There was something unusual, too, in the 1952 presidential primary in Minnesota. Harold Stassen won the Republican primary with 429,076 votes, but there were 108,692 Republicans who wrote in the name of Mr. Eisenhower, which was not on the printed ballot. On the Democratic side, Senator Humphrey won with 102,527 votes as a "favorite son," with Kefauver getting 20,182 "write-in" votes. But the total Republican vote that year of 294,895 and the Democratic total of 131,603 didn't begin to reflect the strength of either party in the subsequent presidential election in November.

Delegations Dominate Conventions
The plain inference is that the people do not regard primaries as important instruments of popular expression. Perhaps it's because everyone knows that the delegates chosen need not follow the vote cast and can change as their political fancy might dictate. The national convention still is dominated by delegations which are not chosen in state primaries. This is one of the weaknesses of the presidential-preference primary system. It is not uniform in its application and isn't binding on the national convention which does the nominating.

There is a publicity value to primaries, and the rival candidates are alert to take advantage of it. The experienced political manager tries to keep his candidate out of primaries unless certain of victory. Adlai Stevenson steered clear of all primaries in 1952 and would have done the same thing this time but was goaded into campaigning. He isn't the kind of demagogue that can win primary contests, and he would have been better advised to keep out of those battles altogether, as he originally wanted to do.

Minnesota is basically a Democratic state. It used to be one of the "sure" Republican states. But it went Democratic in the five presidential elections beginning in 1932. In fact, when Truman carried it in 1948, he polled 692,966 votes, which was better than the 608,458 that Stevenson got in 1952 and higher than the 589,864 that Franklin Roosevelt polled in 1944 to carry the state. It was also better than Roosevelt's 1940 vote of 644,196 and almost as high as the peak Democratic vote of 699,811 which Roosevelt attained in 1936.

Close Election Predicted
But, despite all these figures, there are well-informed persons in the newspaper field in Minnesota who say that Eisenhower has a good chance of carrying the state in November, though it will be close.

Looked at solely from the standpoint of total votes cast the big question is: Why did only 615,000 voters of both parties participate in the 1956 primary and only 642,006 in the senatorial primary in 1954, while 1,138,952 voted for senator in 1954, when a Democrat won—in an "off-year" election—and 1,387,419 voted for senator in 1952, when a Republican won? The apathy of the voters about primary contests extends throughout the country except in the one-party South.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Bearing Down On The News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"The Smith Brothers—Trade and Mark."

Colloquialisms and idioms are short lived and evaporate with the leaves of the calendar, but every once in a while you manage to squeeze a paragraph out of a topical subject or an intense advertising campaign.

The other people spend millions making a product popular and a package commodity well known. Then the wisecracker steps in and knocks it over.

The wisecrack is futile unless the association of ideas clicks in the minds of the reader.

When I came to New York in 1915 there were two gentlemen who had been appearing on billboards since 1900. Each one had a dignified face peering out of luxuriant foundation plantings that had taken years to grow.

They were known as the Smith Brothers, whose dark, rough drops were used medically as lozenges and also to blackball unpopular applicants for exclusive clubs.

It was on my railroad trip from Washington to New York, and on my 67th birthday that I deciphered one word under each of the lad's pictures.

It was then that I discovered that the first names of the Smith Brothers were Trade and Mark.

Inhalation Of Oily Drops May Cause Pneumonia

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Pneumonia due to the inhalation of oil droplets received considerable publicity several years ago. The condition was most common in infants with nasal colds who had been given oily nose drops to relieve congestion. The little tykes frequently inhaled rather than swallowed the material.

An analogous situation occurred in sickly babies who received drops of cod liver oil to increase resistance. Oil is not absorbed by the lungs and unless it is eliminated through coughing, acts like a foreign body. The lung tissues become irritated and pneumonia ensues.

But the publicity paid dividends. Most mothers are aware of this danger and no longer use oily nose drops when the baby has a cold. Nor do they feed a one-week-old infant drops of cod liver oil.

Meanwhile, lipid pneumonia in the elderly appears to be on the increase. In one institution, for example, there were 57 cases among 389 patients who had been hospitalized for chronic illness. In another hospital, 14 out of 600 were found to have lipid pneumonia at the time of death.

In each instance, the disease was attributed to taking mineral oil. Cause and effect are obvious. The typical candidate usually is debilitated and bedridden. He has had a stroke or suffers from some other neurological disability that makes swallowing difficult.

He receives an ounce of mineral oil at night to relieve constipation. After the material is swallowed it floats uppermost in the stomach because it is lighter than the gastric contents. It is not difficult to visualize what happens should a small amount of the oil float into or be sucked into the esophagus.

The fluid enters the windpipe but, because it is oily, the coughing reflex is not stimulated as when other substances go down the Sunday throat. Lipid pneumonia develops after a sufficient number of oily droplets are inhaled.

The manifestations of the disease vary. Some victims are unaware of its existence. Others have a dry cough, chest pain, shortness of breath, and fever. X-ray may show evidence of pneumonia but does not offer a clue as to whether it is due to bacteria or oil. In this respect, diagnosis is not easy. But lipid pneumonia has been uncovered in autopsy so often that prevention offers the best solution to the problem.

APPENDICITIS

C. D. writes: Is there a positive way of determining whether or not a person has appendicitis?

REPLY

No, but the physician usually is on the beam when symptoms and findings of appendicitis are present. Positive diagnosis is made at the time of surgery.

RARE DISEASE

Mrs. P. writes: I read in the paper about the baby with fibroelastosis who is not expected to live. Can you tell us something about this disease?

REPLY

In endocardial fibroelastosis, the baby comes into the world with a thickened and scarred inner lining of the heart. This affects the organ's efficiency and as a result, it enlarges and ultimately fails.

PORK-WORM FATALITIES

W. F. writes: Has anyone ever died of trichinosis?

REPLY

Yes. The mortality rate has varied from 5 to 30 per cent in different epidemics. On the other hand, mortality is extremely low, considering the number of persons who have a mild infestation.

OLD ASTHMA

R. T. writes: Can chronic asthma really be cured or just held in check?

REPLY

Healing may occur if the cause is eliminated and the long-standing asthma is not associated with permanent scarring of the lungs.

ATTACK AND FAILURE

H. M. writes: What is the difference between a heart attack and heart failure?

REPLY

There are many kinds of heart attack including coronary thrombosis and paroxysmal tachycardia. Heart failure refers to a condition in which the organ is unable to pump enough blood to meet the demands of the body. Failure of the left ventricle usually is sudden and dramatic whereas failure of the right ventricle is a more gradual process.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Sen. Johnson's Contracting Friends Gave Roundabout Primary Support

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here are more details on how the giant Brown and Root contracting firm, which has received many lush contracts from the government, contributed to the first senatorial primary of Lyndon Johnson, now Democratic leader of the Senate, and then deducted the contributions from income taxes.

The case history is important for several reasons. First, this unfortunately, is a practice used by other companies. They hand out bonuses to vice presidents, then require that a percentage of the bonus be contributed to a certain pet candidate. Afterward, that candidate, if elected, is in hock to the company. It controls his vote, which is why the Congress today, more and more, is losing its independence.

Second, the Brown and Root history is important because they were active during the gas bill debate. George Brown entertained Sen. Lyndon Johnson and other bigwigs at his Middleburg, Va., estate on weekends, came to Washington between weekends.

Finally, Senator Johnson has exerted his influence to side-track the original forthright probe of the gas lobby proposed by Senator Hennings (D., Mo.), and is now exerting his influence against the recording of political contributions in primary campaigns. Yet, it is primaries, including his own in Texas, that really elect senators in about one-third of the states.

Roundabout Payments
In Johnson's own senatorial primary in Texas in 1941, Internal Revenue agents discovered that Brown and Root had issued the following checks through their subsidiary, Victoria Gravel Co., to Edgar Monteith, an attorney in Houston: $5,000 on May 26, 1941; $4,500 on June 7; another $3,000 on June 7. Monteith then used a complicated, roundabout way of using the money. He distributed $10,000 of it as a profit between himself and his law partner, A. W. Baring. Then Baring transferred the entire $10,000 back to Monteith, and Monteith, in turn, wrote checks to pay the expense of the Lyndon Johnson campaign.

When Johnson was given a chance to explain this, he said he had never heard of Monteith and claimed he had never received financial help from him. However, Monteith's father was the former mayor of Houston and a well-known personage. Internal Revenue agents found that the Second National Bank of Houston microfilmed all checks, including these, and that Monteith unquestionably had used the money to pay for radio time, printing bills, and other Johnson campaign expenses.

Tax Agent's Letter
Summarizing his opinion of this discovery, James M. Cooner, special agent in charge for Texas and Louisiana, wrote from Dallas on May 13, 1944: "It is quite obvious that Monteith aided and abetted Brown and Root, Inc., and Victoria Gravel Co., in showing that political contributions for which he was the conduit were attorney's fees. This would make his income tax fraudulent."

"I seriously doubt," Cooner continued, referring to the fact that Monteith refused to testify, "that he was afraid of incriminating himself in connection with his own tax liability, but believe that he was afraid he might be involved in a conspiracy in connection with the evasion of taxes by Brown and Root, Inc., and Victoria Gravel Company."

Internal Revenue agents also found on Brown and Root's books an interesting list of bonuses paid to its vice presidents and other officials at the exact time of the Lyndon Johnson primary election. There was no explanation for these sudden bonuses, and the employees who received them could give no adequate explanation. Nor could they show any furniture, homes, automobiles, etc., for which they used the money, despite the fact that they cashed the bonuses on the same day they got the checks.

Here are some of the employee bonuses which Brown and Root paid out during the Johnson primary race for the Senate:

L. H. Durst, purchasing agent, was paid $3,500 on March 29, plus another check for $2,000 on May 20; W. M. Powell, vice president, $4,000 on March 28; Carl Burkhardt, office manager, $5,000 on March 29; D. G. Young, secretary, $1,000 on March 18, and another $6,000 on April 17, plus a third check for $2,500 on May 4.

FDR Intervenes
In one or two cases, Internal Revenue agents were able to trace the cash. L. T. Bolin, vice president, was given one of the largest bonuses — $20,000. Revenue agents reported to Washington that Bolin had admitted to them that he had made a cash contribution to the Johnson campaign, but, strangely, could not remember the amount.

They found, however, that he had made out one check on June 4, for $1,150, to the Bell Press for campaign printing. They also traced another campaign check to Bolin for $1,870 dated May 2, 1941.

These and considerably more were among the facts teletyped to Washington on January 14, 1944, on the morning that Elmer Irey, assistant secretary of the treasury, was called to see President Roosevelt. One day earlier, January 13, Congressman Johnson and Alvin Wirtz, attorney for Brown and Root, had called to see the President.

Johnson, when asked about this visit, admitted he had called on FDR with Wirtz, but claimed they had not discussed Brown and Root's taxes. He said he thought they had either talked about public power or about ditching Henry Wallace for vice president in the 1944 campaign and substituting Sam Rayburn.

However, Internal Revenue files are unequivocal. I have photostats of the messages sent from Dallas for the White House. Three days later a new revenue agent arrived in Dallas, and shortly thereafter the Brown and Root tax case was ordered settled.

Yet today, Senator Johnson, a victim of the terrific cost of raising money in a primary, does not want primary expenses and contributions made a public record. More on the Brown and Root case tomorrow.

Democratic Disarray

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON — The Democratic party these days is suffering from more afflictions than Job. The party is bitterly divided. Outside the farm areas it has failed to develop winning issues. In Adlai Stevenson it is in a fair way to losing the only candidate on whom the various factions can agree. And, as if all this weren't enough, the party is flat broke.

Not even the most sanguine Democratic partisan on Capitol Hill claims that this session of Congress has been a political success for the Democrats. Some Republicans, indeed, have already begun to borrow Harry Truman's old slogan, and are talking about "the good-for-nothing, do-nothing Democratic Congress."

Tough For Democrats

The Congress has passed two major bills. The first was the gas bill — which divided the party, killed the "giveaway" issue, and gave the President an opportunity to reap an important gain with his veto. The second was the farm bill, a Christmas tree bill if ever there was one. Especially if the President vetoes it, the bill may help the Democrats in November. But it is not going to be easy to point at it with pride, as a piece of intelligent and responsible legislation.

It is hard to see what else the Democrats are going to point with pride at, unless shrewd Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson pulls some unexpected legislative rabbits out of his hat. The President, in his cleverly conceived legislative program, aborted many issues on which the Democrats had been counting confidently. On other issues, the majority has been paralyzed by its internal division.

The bitter North-South division has blocked any increase in minimum wages, for example, or any revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, and it has probably blocked any important revision of the McCarran Act. There is no central party action on foreign policy, partly because the prestige of Senator Walter George has acted as a shield for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Similarly, defense is not nearly the political issue it might otherwise be, because of the prestige of the President in defense matters.

At Heart Of Troubles

Before this session began, the Democratic leadership was counting heavily on aid to education as an issue for 1956. But it now seems highly unlikely that any school bill at all will be passed, simply because the school bill automatically involves the inflamed issue of school desegregation.

The bitter feeling aroused by the desegregation issue are, indeed, at the heart of the Democrats' troubles. The issue was dramatized by the "manifesto" signed by 19 Southern senators and 77 representatives. It was further dramatized by the appointment of Senator James Eastland, the leading segregationist, as chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee.

The Eastland appointment gives the Republicans a wide-open opportunity to tell Negro voters that "a vote for a Democrat is a vote for Eastland." The Republicans are planning to exploit the issue further by asking for a committee with subpoena powers to study civil rights. And for the first time there are real signs that many Negroes, who in the past have voted Democratic almost as a solid bloc, are turning back to the Republican party.

The situation of the Democrats is further complicated by the near-mortal wound suffered by Adlai Stevenson in Minnesota. Since 1952, there has never been wild enthusiasm about Stevenson even among the Northern Democratic leaders. But he was at least acceptable to almost everybody — he was a bridge between the factions, which was his great strength. Now the bridge has been badly weakened, if not washed away entirely. And there is really no other Democratic candidate who can act as a bridge.

Not Much Money

Add that the Democrats have just enough money to keep the national committee ticking over, and the picture of Democratic disarray becomes complete. The coming campaign is sure to be the most expensive in history, and the Republicans, thanks largely to the brilliant management of Chairman Len Hall, have more money than at the very height of the lusher financed 1952 campaign.

Add finally, of course, that there are no signs that President Eisenhower's remarkable personal popularity is slipping. It might then seem about time to report the approaching demise of the Democratic party. But two facts suggest that such a report may be premature. The first is that the Minnesota primary is only the latest evidence that the anti-administration farm revolt is perfectly real. The second is that, ever since 1952, the Democrats have been stubbornly and illogically winning elections.

Turk-Greek Trouble Was To Be Expected

In the mounting tension on the island of Cyprus, perhaps outbreaks between the 80 per cent Greek majority and the 20 per cent Turkish minority were only to be expected. The two races have a tradition of animosity that is accentuated by differences in religion.

To go back only half a century, the Greeks and the Turks were on opposite sides in the first Balkan War of 1912-13, during and after which hundreds of thousands of Greek refugees fled Turkish soil. The two countries were military opponents also in World War I, after which Greek armies, with British encouragement, advanced into both European and Asiatic Turkey.

The Greeks had some victories in the summer of 1920 and the spring of 1921, but in the summer of 1922 the revitalized Turkish armies under Mustapha Kemal drove the Greek armies before them all the way to the Mediterranean. The Sultan was deposed, the Allies abandoned Constantinople to the Turks, in 1923 a Turkish-Greek agreement provided for compulsory exchange of populations between the two countries.

Turkey in 1930 made Greece a monetary payment to settle the two-way claims arising from the migrations of their populations. But there was still little love lost between the two peoples, and last September in riots at Ankara, Istanbul (Constantinople) and Izmir (Smyrna) hundreds of Greeks were seriously manhandled by Turks, as an offshoot of the tensions on Cyprus.

These Days

Things To Ask About

I always thought that whoever worked for the State Department was a diplomat or a consul or a clerk who coded and decoded messages. I had been accustomed to think of the State Department as being a foreign service, as looking after the international relations of the country, as trying to maintain the peace whereas the Department of Defense prepared for war.

But now I receive a complaint from the American Chemical Society that the State Department's scientific corps has deteriorated. Apparently, there used to be scientists in the State Department whose business it could have been to tell the secretary of state what a molecule is, but alas! they have all been fired and now the secretary of state will have no one to tell him what a molecule is except the under secretary of state who knew such things long before he became a diplomat.

Apparently—and most Americans, I am sure never heard of it—there was an International Science Steering Committee which was headed by an engineer, Lloyd V. Berkner. This committee advised the State Department to have scientists in the State Department and as Berkner is a very distinguished man in his field, his advice was accepted; so 10 scientists were appointed to the embassies in London, Stockholm, Paris and Tokyo. What they did there, the mimeograph before me does not say, except that they were very important and that the service should be continued.

It strikes me that with all the varied scientists available in the government, in universities and in private enterprise, if the government needs to get hold of one for some special purpose, as, for instance, to prime the President on heavy water of plankton or something like that, it ought to be possible to pull the biggest authority on the subject out of a filing cabinet and bring him down to Washington or send him abroad. It is like when the family doctor needs to convince you that you are very sick and you have serious doubts on the subject, he brings in a specialist who tells you that if you don't listen to him, you will surely die. The family doctor always knows the name and telephone number of an available specialist. It would seem to me that the administration in Washington could have similar information about all kinds of scientists.

Much of this excitement over scientists as diplomats undoubtedly arises from all this atomic business and the need for having someone around who can talk scientific jargon which is a language all on its own and requires considerable study even to be able to read a page in a chemistry or a physics book. Everything since Einstein has been made so complicated that what one has learned in his youth no longer helps much. So even if we had educated ambassadors, they would be stuck when they saw it all put out in Greek letters with parentheses all around everything and little numerals on the side.

But it is possible to hire an expert to translate most of this stuff into English and even a foreigner will do, since now there are no more secrets, everything having either been stolen or given away.

But why fire only the scientists? There are all sorts of surplus baggage attached to every embassy, people who have nothing to do with our foreign relations but live abroad on an expense account and buy their cigars at an embassy PX. Somebody ought to discover how these extra attaches have messed up American foreign relations because it would seem that wherever they are most numerous and spend the most money, the United States is most disliked by the natives.

In England, for instance, where we have an enormous staff and spend money all over the place, we are hardly understood by the populace at all, and I can recall listening to an argument on a street in London, after a political meeting, in the course of which a Communist asked, "Who keeps bases in this country, the U. S. or the U. S. S. R.?" And there was no one to tell him that those bases were there to keep England from being conquered.

So what do we have the attaches there for? What do they do for us? What do they tell the people?

Big Commotion At The Far End Of The Stable

Voters Are Indifferent About Primary Elections

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Why did so many people stay away from the polls in Minnesota last week? Do the American voters regard primaries as of little importance?

More Republicans than Democrats failed to vote, and this may have been due to the existence of a contest inside the Democratic party, whereas there was no such contest inside the Republican party. But it still doesn't explain the absence of more than one-third of the Democratic vote cast for U. S. senator in the final election of 1954, when Senator Humphrey won.

Some idea of the large number of voters of both parties who ignored the presidential primary can be gotten by comparing the approximately 196,000 votes cast by Republicans this week as against 763,211 for Eisenhower in the final election of 1952 and the 785,649 votes obtained by Senator Thye, Republican, when he ran ahead of Mr. Eisenhower to win in that same election. This means that in this year's presidential primary in Minnesota approximately 75 per cent of the Republicans who voted in 1952 didn't show up at the polls.

In the Democratic party primary, where the organization was hard at work and a bitter contest between Stevenson and Kefauver was in progress, the proportion of Democrats voting was higher than among the Republicans. But the total of about 420,000 for both Democratic candidates was far below the 642,193 which Senator Humphrey got in 1954 and also far below the 608,458 which Stevenson himself polled against Eisenhower in 1952.

There was something unusual, too, in the 1952 presidential primary in Minnesota. Harold Stassen won the Republican primary with 429,076 votes, but there were 108,692 Republicans who wrote in the name of Mr. Eisenhower, which was not on the printed ballot. On the Democratic side, Senator Humphrey won with 102,527 votes as a "favorite son," with Kefauver getting 20,182 "write-in" votes. But the total Republican vote that year of 294,895 and the Democratic total of 131,603 didn't begin to reflect the strength of either party in the subsequent presidential election in November.

Delegations Dominate Conventions
The plain inference is that the people do not regard primaries as important instruments of popular

expression. Perhaps it's because everyone knows that the delegates chosen need not follow the vote cast and can change as their political fancy might dictate. The national convention still is dominated by delegations which are not chosen in state primaries. This is one of the weaknesses of the presidential-preference primary system. It is not uniform in its application and isn't binding on the national convention which does the nominating.

There is a publicity value to primaries, and the rival candidates are alert to take advantage of it. The experienced political manager tries to keep his candidate out of primaries unless certain of victory. Adlai Stevenson steered clear of all primaries in 1952 and would have done the same thing this time but was goaded into campaigning. He isn't the kind of demagogue that can win primary contests, and he would have been better advised to keep out of those battles altogether, as he originally wanted to do.

Minnesota is basically a Democratic state. It used to be one of the "sure" Republican states. But it went Democratic in the five presidential elections beginning in 1932. In fact, when Truman carried it in 1948, he polled 692,966 votes, which was better than the 608,458 that Stevenson got in 1952 and higher than the 589,864 that Franklin Roosevelt polled in 1944 to carry the state. It was also better than Roosevelt's 1940 vote of 644,196 and almost as high as the peak Democratic vote of 693,811 which Roosevelt attained in 1936.

Here are some of the employee bonuses which Brown and Root paid out during the Johnson primary race for the Senate:

L. H. Durst, purchasing agent, was paid $3,500 on March 29, plus another check for $2,000 on May 29; W. M. Powell, vice president, $4,000 on March 28; Carl Burkhardt, office manager, $5,000 on March 29; D. G. Young, secretary, $1,000 on March 18, and another $6,000 on April 17, plus a third check for $2,500 on May 4.

FDR Intervenes
In one or two cases, Internal Revenue agents were able to trace the cash. L. T. Bolin, vice president, was given one of the largest bonuses — $20,000. Revenue agents reported to Washington that Bolin had admitted to them that he had made a cash contribution to the Johnson campaign, but, strangely, could not remember the amount.

They found, however, that he had made out one check on June 4, for $1,150, to the Bell Press for campaign printing. They also traced another campaign check to Bolin for $1,870 dated May 2, 1941.

These and considerably more were among the facts teletyped to Washington on January 14, 1944, on the morning that Elmer Irey, assistant secretary of the treasury, was called to see President Roosevelt. One day earlier, January 13, Congressman Johnson and Alvin Wirtz, attorney for Brown and Root, had called to see the President.

Johnson, when asked about this visit, admitted he had called on FDR with Wirtz, but claimed they had not discussed Brown and Root's taxes. He said he thought they had either talked about public power or about ditching Henry Wallace for vice president in the 1944 campaign and substituting Sam Rayburn.

However, Internal Revenue files are unequivocal. I have photostats of the messages sent from Dallas for the White House. Three days later a new revenue agent arrived in Dallas, and shortly thereafter the Brown and Root tax case was ordered settled.

Yet today, Senator Johnson, a victim of the terrific cost of raising money in a primary, does not want primary expenses and contributions made a public record.

More on the Brown and Root case tomorrow.

Democratic Disarray

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The Democratic party these days is suffering from more afflictions than Job. The party is bitterly divided. Outside the farm areas it has failed to develop winning issues. In Adlai Stevenson it is in a fair way to losing the only candidate on whom the various factions can agree. And, as if all this weren't enough, the party is flat broke.

Not even the most sanguine Democratic partisan on Capitol Hill claims that this session of Congress has been a political success for the Democrats. Some Republicans, indeed, have already begun to borrow Harry Truman's old slogan, and are talking about "the good-for-nothing, do-nothing Democratic Congress."

Tough For Democrats
The Congress has passed two major bills. The first was the gas bill — which divided the party, killed the "giveaway" issue, and gave the President an opportunity to reap an important gain with his veto. The second was the farm bill, a Christmas tree bill if ever there was one. Especially if the President vetoes it, the bill may help the Democrats in November. But it is not going to be easy to point at it with pride, as a piece of intelligent and responsible legislation.

It is hard to see what else the Democrats are going to point with pride at, unless shrewd Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson pulls some unexpected legislative rabbits out of his hat. The President, in his cleverly conceived legislative program, aborted many issues on which the Democrats had been counting confidently. On other issues, the majority has been paralyzed by its internal division.

The bitter North-South division has blocked any increase in minimum wages, for example, or any revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, and it has probably blocked any important revision of the McCarran Act. There is no central party issue on foreign policy, partly because the prestige of Senator Walter George has acted as a shield for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Similarly, defense is not nearly the political issue it might otherwise be, because of the prestige of the President in defense matters.

At Heart Of Troubles
Before this session began, the Democratic leadership was counting heavily on aid to education as an issue for 1956. But it now seems highly unlikely that any school bill at all will be passed, simply because the school bill automatically involves the inflamed issue of school desegregation.

The bitter feeling aroused by the desegregation issue are, indeed, at the heart of the Democrats' troubles. The issue was dramatized by the "manifesto" signed by 19 Southern senators and 77 representatives. It was further dramatized by the appointment of Senator James Eastland, the leading segregationist, as chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee.

The Eastland appointment gives the Republicans a wide-open opportunity to tell Negro voters that "a vote for a Democrat is a vote for Eastland." The Republicans are planning to exploit the issue further by asking for a committee with subpoena powers to study civil rights. And for the first time there are real signs that many Negroes, who in the past have voted Democratic almost as a solid bloc, are turning back to the Republican party.

The situation of the Democrats is further complicated by the near-mortal wound suffered by Adlai Stevenson in Minnesota. Since 1952, there has never been wild enthusiasm about Stevenson even among the Northern Democratic leaders. But he was at least acceptable to almost everybody — he was a bridge between the factions, which was his great strength. Now the bridge has been badly weakened, if not washed away entirely. And there is really no other Democratic candidate who can act as a bridge.

Not Much Money
Add that the Democrats have just enough money to keep the national committee ticking over, and the picture of Democratic disarray becomes complete. The coming campaign is sure to be the most expensive in history, and the Republicans, thanks largely to the brilliant management of Chairman Len Hall, have more money than at the very height of the lusher financed 1952 campaign.

Add finally, of course, that there are no signs that President Eisenhower's remarkable personal popularity is slipping. It might then seem about time to report the approaching demise of the Democratic party. But two facts suggest that such a report may be premature. The first is that the Minnesota primary is only the latest evidence that the anti-administration farm revolt is perfectly real. The second is that, ever since 1952, the Democrats have been stubbornly and illogically winning elections.

Wildness by righthander Ray Moore helped the Giants to their first start. Moore, pitching only the first inning, walked four straight batters. And an error by right-fielder Dave Philley didn't help.

Catcher Ray Katt, with two singles and a double, and third baseman Foster Castleman, with a triple and single, each drove in four runs for the Giants.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli went seven innings for the Giants, holding the Orioles to four hits.

Head Man Cops 5th At Bowie

Must Be Regarded As Derby Contender

BOWIE, Md., March 26 (AP)—C. V. Whitney's Head Man, idle since October, romped to an easy fourth victory over seven other three-year-olds today to show he must be regarded as a serious contender for Kentucky Derby honors come May.

Under a firm restraining pull from Jockey Sammy Boulmetis, Head Man ran the second fastest six furlongs in this meeting. He was clocked at 1:11 flat in winning the $4,000 allowance race, fifth on today's card.

Head Man had spent the winter at Camden, S. C., but apparently trainer Syl Veitch had done plenty of work with him. Weighed at 122 pounds, top weight, Head Man took the lead soon after the start and won as his rider pleased.

Born Mighty, another Whitney 3-year-old and also a Derby nominee, was second, coming from last place in the sprint test. But he was no menace to his stablemate.

The crowd of 11,500 fans installed the entry a $4 for $2 choice and never had cause to worry. Although a light drizzle fell most of the afternoon the track was fast and Head Man's time showed it.

Head Man won only one race last year—the Sanford Stakes at Saratoga. But he was second in the Flash, the Futurity and the Champagne and finished third in both the U. S. Hotel and Grand Union Hotel.

At year's end, his earnings stood $33,000.

The double Whitney entry caused a minus show pool of $532.20. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' The Great Man was third, three-quarters of a length behind Born Mighty.

Cornell Nine Wins Over Maryland, 1-0

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Cornell, with Billy DeGraff and Jack Perkins combining talent for a 4-hit pitching job, defeated Maryland 1-0 today in the season's baseball opener for both schools.

The winning run wasn't pushed across until the top of the ninth and spoiled a 5-hit pitching chore by Maryland's George Gaffney.

Cornell's Dick Shikegane led off the 9th with a single and stole second. He scored on a single by Nick Schiff, who got three of the Big Red's five hits.

Until then, Gaffney—a sophomore—hadn't been in trouble. He had 10 strikeouts and walked only one. In the fifth inning, he struck out the opposition.

DeGraff and Perkins, who came in at the start of the 5th inning, were almost as impressive. Both gave up only two hits.

California Heavy Testifies He Was In Four Fixed Bouts

Bivins And Matthews Involved; Jones Says McCoy Robbed Him

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (INS)—Watson Jones, former California State heavyweight boxing champion, sobbed bitterly today as he testified that he participated in four fixed fights against boxers of high national ranking.

The 36-year-old fighter told a governor's committee investigating boxing and wrestling in Los Angeles that on three of the four occasions, his orders to take "dives" came from Babe McCoy, matchmaker at Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium.

The tearful Jones testified: "I was just McCoy's little colored boy. I loved that fat man, but he robbed me."

Jones said that under instructions from the 300-pound McCoy, he "went in the tank" against Joe Kahut in Portland, Ore., and Pat McCafferty in Topeka, Kans., in 1949.

He said he also was ordered to "get out early" in fights with Harry (Kid) Matthews and Jimmy Bivins in 1950. At one time, both Matthews and Bivins were regarded as heavyweight championship contenders.

Jones said McCoy was not involved in fixing the Bivins fight. He said those orders came from Sparky Rudolph, McCoy's nephew.

Jones was called to the witness stand by special counsel James Cox after McCoy, the prime target of the investigation so far, failed to appear to continue his testimony.

Hearing officer John Clarkson said he had been told by an employee of Cal Eaton, the Olympic auditorium promoter, that McCoy was too ill to attend the session.

Jones said McCoy gave him his ring name — his real name is Alexander Dumas Watson — and was "like a father to me because he was the only one I could go to to get a buck from."

Although McCoy did not hold his contract, Jones said, he was "my boss man." Jones declared: "I never received so much as 25 per cent from any of my fights. When I would get my check on Wednesday after fighting at the Olympic on Tuesday night, they would rob me. He (McCoy) swindled me many a time."

Jones said he received only $1200 out of the largest purse he ever earned boxing, $4100.

Questioned by Cox about the Kahut fight, Jones declared: "I just blew to him. That's what McCoy told me to do."

He said the Portland fight promoter, Tex Salkold, knew about the "fix."

Jones admitted that McCoy never told him in so many words to lose fights. He said McCoy gave him these instructions: "Make it a good fight and get out early."

Jones said he last fought four weeks ago in Arizona and was knocked out by Zora Foley. He explained:

"They offered me $125. I'm in bad shape, but I took it. I didn't do too well. I'm too old to get knocked around any more, but I made an appearance and got out of there."

Recorders Lead By Seven Games

The Recorders increased their lead to seven games in the second half race of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League last night by sweeping three from the Guards on the Club Recreation alleys.

In the other match, the Grand Knights, first half champions, now in last place, lost two games to the Chancellors.

High man for the evening was Tom McGeady of the Chancellors with a 236-532. Other high scorers were Norman Sell, Grand Knights, 182-519; Ray Shaffer, Guards, 191-496, and Owen McGreevy, Recorders, 209-485. The standings:

Hercules Riflemen Take League Title

Hercules Powder Company's rifle team has earned the right to represent the Western Maryland League in the NRA state and national championships to be conducted April 2 through May 15.

The Hercules gunners qualified Sunday by defeating Mountain Top at the Bowman's Addition range.

Each team posted 1536 totals but a rating of the standing position gave Hercules the edge over Oakland, 359 to 354 in the title match.

Hercules gained a second leg on the Times-News Trophy, a plaque from the NRA and individual trophies from the league.

Brooks Lawrence Stops Cards, 3-1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, traded by St. Louis to Cincinnati in January, went the distance today as the Redlegs halted a six-game Cardinal winning streak, 3-1.

Although yielding 10 hits and 3 walks, the rugged righthander was scored on only in the sixth inning.

A two-run error by Alex Grammas, St. Louis shortstop, decided the game in the seventh inning. Grammas, with the score tied, bases loaded and two out, muffed a grounder hit by Lawrence.

Smoky Burgess collected three of the Redleg hits and Don Blasingame hit safely three times for St. Louis.

The National leaguers exploded for all but one of their runs in the fifth, the sixth coming on a bases-empty homer by third baseman Willie Jones in the second.

Righthander Bob Miller, who gave up five hits in a six inning performance, picked up the victory. Tiger southpaw Bob Miller was charged with the loss, the 12th against four wins for Detroit in grapefruit league play.

Doby, obtained from Cleveland in an off-season deal, drove in the first run with his three-bagger in the fourth. He singled in the sixth when the White Sox picked up three runs.

Righthander Sandy Consuegra had to leave the game after 4 2/3 innings when he was struck in the stomach by a hard line drive by Jimmy Piersall. Consuegra later was reported all right.

St. Nick Bout Boomed, Baker Winner In TKO

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Larry Baker, a comparative unknown from Mount Vernon, N.Y., stopped Pat Lowry, a reputed knockout artist from Toledo, Ohio, in 47 seconds of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Baker weighed 147½, Lowry 149½.

Baker, who brought an unimpressive 18-10-3 record into the ring, sent Lowry to the canvas for a nine count, with a solid right cross to the jaw at the start of the eighth.

Lowry got up, wobbled around the ring for a few seconds taking more punches, and Referee Pete Scalzo decided the Toledo boy had had enough. Lowry offered little protest.

Until that point, there hadn't been a knockdown, or, for that matter, a solid punch. The crowd of about 400 spent most of its time booing the fighters.

Fort Hill High School's track and field team will launch its 1956 season on Friday, April 13, playing host to Martinsburg (W. Va.) High School in a dual meet at the local stadium at 8:30 o'clock. Coach William P. Hahn announced yesterday.

The Sentinels will participate in seven meets, one less than last year when they captured four out of eight.

Fort Hill's annual invitational meet will be held in the afternoon instead of at night this year but the Cumberland Valley Athletic League meet will be a nocturnal affair and will be staged here Friday, May 18.

Montgomery Blair High School of Silver Spring, 1955 winner. Westminster, Frederick, Beall and Fort Hill are the schools already entered in the invitational set for Saturday, May 5. Six schools, namely, Allegany, Hagerstown, Martinsburg, Frederick, Handley of Winchester and Fort Hill will win 50 of 68 Meets.

Coach Hahn will be at the helm of the Fort Hill thrills for the tenth year. In the past nine years his teams have participated in 68 meets and won 50.

One hundred and five boys answered the initial call for track and candidates have been working out for the past two weeks. Graduation took such outstanding stars as Donald Anderson, Bob Andrews, Jerry Landis and Kenny Poling but there are a flock of good holdovers in Donald Humphreys, Wilbur Hite, Ronald Shaffer, Russell McGaughey, William Powell, William Sansom, Ronald Shamboltzer, Everett Yankee and Donald Appold. Byron Valentine and John Rice have not reported but they may join the squad later. Don Anderson, high point scorer of last season is now at the University of Maryland where Coach Jim Kehoe regards him as one of the outstanding prospects in years.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., March 26 (AP)—The New York Giants scored five runs on one hit in the first inning and went on to walloping the Baltimore Orioles 14-1 in a cactus league game today.

Wildness by righthander Ray Moore helped the Giants to their first start. Moore, pitching only the first inning, walked four straight batters. And an error by right fielder Dave Philley didn't help.

Catcher Ray Katt, with two singles and a double, and third baseman Foster Castleman, with a triple and single, each drove in four runs for the Giants.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli went seven innings for the Giants, holding the Orioles to four hits. New York (N) 530 311 000—14 13 1 Baltimore . . . 000 100 000—1 5 1

Head Man Cops 5th At Bowie

Must Be Regarded As Derby Contender

BOWIE, Md., March 26 (AP)—C. V. Whitney's Head Man, idle since October, romped to an easy four-length victory over seven other three-year-olds today to show he must be regarded as a serious contender for Kentucky Derby honors come May.

Under a firm restraining pull from jockey Sammy Boulmetis, Head Man ran the second fastest six furlongs of this meeting. He was clocked at 1.11 flat in winning the $4,000 allowance race, fifth on today's card.

Head Man had spent the winter at Camden, S. C., but apparently trainer Syl Veitch had done plenty of work with him. Weighed at 122 pounds, top weight, Head Man took the lead soon after the start and won as his rider pleased.

Born Mighty, another Whitney 3-year-old and also a Derby nominee, was second, coming from last place in the sprint test. But he was no menace to his stablemate.

The crowd of 11,500 fans installed the entry a $4 for $2 choice and never had cause to worry. Although a light drizzle fell most of the afternoon the track was fast and Head Man's time showed it.

Head Man won only one race last year—the Sanford Stakes at Saratoga. But he was second in the Flash, the Futurity and the Champagne and finished third in both the U. S. Hotel and Grand Union Hotel.

At year's end, his earnings stood $35,000.

The double Whitney entry caused a minus show pool of $532.20. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' The Great Man was third, three-quarters of a length behind Born Mighty.

Cornell Nine Wins Over Maryland, 1-0

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 26 (AP)—Cornell, with Billy DeGraff and Jack Perkins combining talent for a 4-1 pitching job, defeated Maryland 1-0 today in the season's baseball opener for both schools.

The winning run wasn't pushed across until the top of the ninth and spoiled a 5-hit pitching chore by Maryland's George Gaffney.

Cornell's Dick Shikegane led off the 9th with a single and stole second. He scored on a single by Nick Schiff, who got three of the Big Red's five hits.

Until then, Gaffney—a sophomore—hadn't been in trouble. He had 10 strikeouts and walked only one. In the fifth inning, he struck out the opposition.

DeGraff and Perkins, who came in at the start of the 5th inning, were almost as impressive. Both gave up only two hits.

California Heavy Testifies He Was In Four Fixed Bouts

Bivins And Matthews
Involved; Jones Says
McCoy Robbed Him

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (INS)—Watson Jones, former California State heavyweight boxing champion, sobbed bitterly today as he testified that he participated in four fixed fights against boxers of high national ranking.

The 36-year-old fighter told a governor's committee investigating boxing and wrestling in Los Angeles that on three of the four occasions, his orders to take "dives" came from Babe McCoy, matchmaker at Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium.

The tearful Jones testified: "I was just McCoy's little colored boy. I loved that fat man, but he robbed me."

Jones said that under instructions from the 300-pound McCoy, he "went in the tank" against Joe Kahut in Portland, Ore., and Pat McCafferty in Topeka, Kans., in 1949.

He said he also was ordered to "get out early" in fights with Harry (Kid) Matthews and Jimmy Bivins in 1950. At one time, both Matthews and Bivins were regarded as heavyweight championship contenders.

Jones said McCoy was not involved in fixing the Bivins fight. He said those orders came from Sparky Rudolph, McCoy's nephew.

Jones was called to the witness stand by special counsel James Cox after McCoy, the prime target of the investigation so far, failed to appear to continue his testimony.

Hearing officer John Clarkson said he had been told by an employee of Cal Eaton, the Olympic auditorium promoter, that McCoy was too ill to attend the session.

Jones said McCoy gave him his ring name—his real name is Alexander Dumas Watson—and was "like a father to me because he was the only one I could go to to get a buck from."

Although McCoy did not hold his contract, Jones said, he was "my boss man." Jones declared: "I never received so much as 25 per cent from any of my fights. When I would get my fight on Wednesday after fighting at the Olympic on Tuesday night, they would rob me. He (McCoy) swindled me many a time."

Jones said he received only $1200 out of the largest purse he ever earned boxing, $4100.

Questioned by Cox about the Kahut fight, Jones declared: "I just blew to him. That's what McCoy told me to do."

He said the Portland fight promoter, Tex Salkold, knew about the "fix."

Jones admitted that McCoy never told him in so many words to lose fights. He said McCoy gave him these instructions: "Make it a good fight and get out early."

Jones said he last fought four weeks ago in Arizona and was knocked out by Zora Foley. He explained:

"They offered me $125. I'm in bad shape, but I took it. I didn't do too well. I'm too old to get knocked around any more, but I made an appearance and got out of there."

Brooks Lawrence Stops Cards, 3-1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, traded by St. Louis to Cincinnati in January, went the distance today as the Redlegs halted a six-game Cardinal winning streak, 3-1.

Although yielding 10 hits and 3 walks, the rugged righthander was scored on only in the sixth inning.

A two-run error by Alex Grammas, St. Louis shortstop, decided the game in the seventh inning. Grammas, with the score tied, bases loaded and two out, muffed a grounder hit by Lawrence.

Smoky Burgess collected three of the Redleg hits and Don Blasingame hit safely three times for St. Louis.

St. Nick Bout Boomed, Baker Winner In TKO

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Larry Baker, a comparative unknown from Mount Vernon, N.Y., stopped Pat Lowry, a reputed knockout artist from Toledo, Ohio, in 47 seconds of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Baker weighed 147½. Lowry 149½.

Baker, who brought an unimpressive 18-10-3 record into the ring, sent Lowry to the canvas for a nine count, with a solid right cross to the jaw at the start of the eighth.

Lowry got up, wobbled around the ring for a few seconds taking more punches, and Referee Petey Scalzo decided the Toledo boy had had enough. Lowry offered little protest.

Until that point, there hadn't been a knockout, or, for that matter, a solid punch. The crowd of about 400 spent most of its time booing the fighters.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Discover things about your voice you didn't know—with a professional voice analysis you can give yourself.

Analyze Your Voice Appeal

It's not enough to have a voice that is ever soft, gentle, and low, no matter how excellent a thing it is in woman. Certainly not if it is in woman. Certainly not if it is soft, gentle, and low voice is monotonous, ineffective, and lacking in appeal. Let's talk today about turning the volume up, way up, at least temporarily, for the purpose of giving yourself a professional voice analysis.

Read aloud, really aloud, for ten minutes from a book or magazine. Listen to every syllable with complete concentration. Then ask yourself these questions:

1. Does your voice sound alive, expressive, and colorful? If it does not, there's your clue to why it's difficult to get attention or make a point.
2. As you consciously talk louder, does the pitch of your voice rise and grow shriller? Heightened pitch shows unpleasant strain and that there isn't the controlled power behind your tones that's needed to make your voice quality arresting and your words easily understood.

On The Line by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 26 (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . . Old Chinese diplomats never die, either. But every now and then they fade away, and this is to be the chosen lot of V. (for Vi) K. (for Kyun) Wellington Koo. Perhaps more than any other single Chinese has kept the Chinese Nationalist government and the problem of the Communist-dominated Chinese mainland on the mind of the U. S. government.

Dr. Koo is retiring from his last and greatest diplomatic post, that of Chinese ambassador to the U. S. He has been in the striped pants uniform of his calling since 1912.

Dr. Koo makes even the most urbane diplomat look oafish and unlearned by comparison.

He is one of the three living members of the drafting commission of the covenant of the League of Nations. He helped to draft the UN Charter a generation later. He was Chinese minister plenipotentiary to Washington in 1916, when some of the present crop of diplomats were still in knee pants—and not the kind worn at the Court of St. James. He was his country's foreign minister 35 years ago, its finance minister when the yen wasn't shot full of holes, its prime minister just 30 years ago.

He served as ambassador to Britain and France and spoke for China at every great international conference. He was always our good and resourceful friend in the toughest game in the world—in international diplomacy.

P.S.—He still holds the most brilliant scholastic record of Columbia University.

Koo won Columbia's coveted Alexander Hamilton medal in 1949. This year the award is shared jointly by Dick Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, a couple of Lions who put on several Varsity Shows in the early 1920's.

Frederick St. Proposal Will Be Studied

Plans for completion of the entire Frederick Street improvement project were outlined to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz.

Area involved would be from Henderson Avenue to Woodlawn Terrace where the new federal aid improvement begins.

Buchholz announced his proposal last Friday in detail and said estimates by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum indicate cost will be $121,000. He said he was urging that funds be taken from the $350,000 Urban Development bond issue used to improve the far end of the street.

Buchholz's proposal, it was reported, intends to make per front foot costs uniform from the city limits to Decatur Street.

Temporary repairs have been made from Linden Street to Keener's Market.

Officials reported it was generally agreed, at the meeting held after the Council Meeting yesterday, that another meeting on the subject will be held next Monday morning.

During the time, the Mayor and Council will be able to study cost estimates and make on-the-spot inspections of the area covered by the proposal.

Heinsohn To Join College All-Stars

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Tommy Heinsohn, All-America basketball player and greatest scorer in history at Holy Cross, signed today to play with the college all-stars who will meet the Harlem Globetrotters in an 18-city tour.

The 6-7 Heinsohn, from Union City, N.J., joins Darrell Floyd of Furman, Robin Freeman of Ohio State, and St. Green of Duquesne, already signed for the all-stars.

The coast to coast tour opens in New York's Madison Square Garden next Sunday.

Looks as if Jeff Chandler knows where he's going. He signed a fat contract with United Artists for 100 per cent financing of his independent pictures. He'll make six pictures—three in which he'll star, and three which he'll produce with other stars, a la Burt Lancaster.

Jeff's contract with Universal-International winds up in another five months, but he's still bound to them for two films a year, so it

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (INS)—The long negotiated new contract between Susan Hayward and 20th Century-Fox was signed over the weekend by Buddy Adler. Susan wanted a non-exclusive deal to give her a chance to make outside pictures when her present contract is up in August. That's what she gets.

Her deal with 20th is for five years with one picture a year, and Buddy has a goodie for her first. He's bought John Marquand's new novel "Stopover Japan," which will be on the stands in May and which will be serialized in the Saturday Evening Post. It has been chosen by the Reader's Digest as the book of the month.

The latest word I've had on Ava Gardner from Spain is that she does not want to come back to Hollywood on any terms. She would like to make a new deal with MGM which would give her permission to make pictures abroad.

From someone who talked with Ava a few weeks ago, I hear that it's news to her that she believes she's going to die soon, as has been reported. He told me that Ava is out every night having herself a good time and apparently loving every minute of her stay in Madrid.

She has "Bhowani Junction," which is not yet released, but no plans whatsoever for a future film. Ava feels Hollywood is down on her, which is not true. We'll all be glad to have her come back.

Discover things about your voice you didn't know—with a professional voice analysis you can give yourself.

Secrets of Charm by John Robert Powers

Analyze Your Voice Appeal

It's not enough to have a voice that is ever soft, gentle, and low, no matter how excellent a thing it is in woman. Certainly not if the soft, gentle, and low voice is monotonous, ineffective, and lacking in appeal. Let's talk today about turning the volume up, way up, at least temporarily, for the purpose of giving yourself a professional voice analysis.

Read aloud, really aloud, for ten minutes from a book or magazine. Listen to every syllable with complete concentration. Then ask yourself these questions:

1. Does your voice sound alive, expressive, and colorful? If it does not, there's your clue to why it's difficult to get attention or make a point.
 2. As you consciously talk louder, does the pitch of your voice rise and grow shrill? Heightened pitch shows unpleasant strain and that there isn't the controlled power behind your tones that's needed to make your voice quality arresting and your words easily understood.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 26 (INS)—People . . . places . . . things . . . Old Chinese diplomats never die, either. But every now and then they fade away, and this is to the chagrin of V. (for Vi) K. (for Kyuin) Wellington Koo. Perhaps more than any other single Chinese he has kept the Chinese Nationalist government and the problem of the Communist-dominated Chinese mainland on the mind of the U. S. government.

Dr. Koo is retiring from his last and greatest diplomatic post, that of Chinese ambassador to the U. S. He has been in the striped pants uniform of his calling since 1912. Dr. Koo makes even the most urbane diplomat look oafish and unlearned by comparison.
 He is one of the three living members of the drafting commission of the covenant of the League of Nations. He helped to draft the UN Charter a generation later. He was Chinese minister plenipotentiary to Washington in 1916, when some of the present crop of diplomats were still in knee pants—and not the kind worn at the Court of St. James. He was his country's foreign minister 35 years ago, its finance minister when the yen wasn't shot full of holes, its prime minister just 30 years ago.

He served as ambassador to Britain and France and spoke for China at every great international conference. He was always our good and resourceful friend in the toughest game in

Mollohan Urges School Control At Local Level

Candidate Speaks To PTA Association

ROMNEY, W. Va., March 26 (AP) — "A greater degree of local responsibility and authority is of prime importance" in West Virginia's school system, Rep. Robert H. Mollohan said tonight.

Mollohan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke by invitation at a joint meeting of elementary and high school Parent-Teacher Assn. groups. In an address prepared for delivery at the meeting, Mollohan said:

"The people closest to the school problems are better able to determine their needs and apply remedies in accordance with their means. These cannot be decided by officials in Charleston and Washington who have authority but no responsibility for carrying out their edicts."

Observing that West Virginia ranks 39th among the states in per capita income, Mollohan said:

"There is a direct relation between education and an expanding economy, since education is a spur to a higher standard of living, and provides means to increase earning capacity. By thus boosting consumer purchasing power, education helps to keep our economy flourishing and expanding."

Frostburg Man Gets Award For Silicosis

Milton Gerson, attorney for Roy Stevens, of Frostburg, has received a copy of an award by the State Industrial Accident Commission to his client for permanent total disability resulting from silicosis.

The commission based its award on findings in a hearing conducted here before the Medical Board for Occupational Diseases. Stevens had been employed by the Big Vein Coal Company at Lonaconing.

The commission affirmed the findings of the Medical Board on the issue that the claimants' disability began within three years after the last injurious exposure to the silicon dioxide dust while in the employ of the Big Vein Coal Company. It was also revealed that the disease was reported to the employer.

The commission ordered the Big Vein Coal Company, the employer, and the State Accident Fund to pay to Stevens compensation at the rate of $28 per week. The total payments not to exceed $7,500. The award was signed by R. Duncan Clark, commissioner with the state agency.

Enters Primary In Senate Race

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 26 (AP) — Mrs. Harley M. Kilgore of Beckley filed today for the Democratic nomination to succeed her late husband in the U. S. Senate.

The possibility of her getting into the race with important backing from supporters of Rep. Robert Mollohan of Fairmont for governor was reported last week.

There was no hint of backing from any particular quarter as Mrs. Kilgore appeared unexpectedly late this afternoon at the Secretary of State's office.

Most newsmen had left the statehouse for the day when she arrived with her filing certificate and $225 check shortly after 4 p. m.

Another development today was the announcement from Wheeling by Tom Sweeney making it a four-way contest among Republicans for the short-term Senate seat.

The vacancy caused by Kilgore's death on Feb. 28 is being filled temporarily by William R. Laird III of Fayetteville, who resigned as state tax commissioner to take the post. Laird is to serve only until a successor has been elected and qualified.

The Kilgore term runs through 1958. In filing her candidacy today, Mrs. Kilgore said:

"I am filing today because the policies and ideals for which Harley Kilgore stood are at stake. I am convinced the people of West Virginia would like these policies continued through the term for which he was duly elected."

"Further, I feel I am in a position to carry on this undertaking."

Five Storage Sites Have Been Charted

KEYSER—The survey for proposed storage sites in the New Creek Valley is progressing rapidly, said R. A. Fleek, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. Preliminary survey work has been completed on five of the 15 proposed water storage sites in Mineral County.

Cooperation of local landowners has been excellent, said Mr. Fleek, in discussing the splendid progress made to date. He said the local area landowners have been very cooperative, permitting survey work to be completed as rapidly as possible.

Mollohan Urges School Control At Local Level

Candidate Speaks To PTA Association

ROMNEY, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—"A greater degree of local responsibility and authority is of prime importance" in West Virginia's school system, Rep. Robert H. Mollohan said tonight.

Mollohan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke by invitation at a joint meeting of elementary and high school Parent-Teacher Associations. In an address prepared for delivery at the meeting, Mollohan said:

"The people closest to the school problems are better able to determine their needs and apply remedies in accordance with their means. These cannot be decided by officials in Charleston and Washington who have authority but no responsibility for carrying out their edicts."

Observing that West Virginia ranks 39th among the states in per capita income, Mollohan said:

"There is a direct relation between education and an expanding economy, since education is a spur to a higher standard of living, and provides means to increase earning capacity. By thus boosting consumer purchasing power, education helps to keep our economy flourishing and expanding."

He added that the cost of a good school program "cannot be regarded as a burden, because the demand for skilled manpower, already in short supply is vastly increasing."

Frostburg Man Gets Award For Silicosis

Milton Gerson, attorney for Roy Stevens, of Frostburg, has received a copy of an award by the State Industrial Accident Commission to his client for permanent total disability resulting from silicosis.

The commission based its award on findings in a hearing conducted here before the Medical Board for Occupational Diseases. Stevens had been employed by the Big Vein Coal Company at Lonaconing.

The commission affirmed the findings of the Medical Board on the issue that the claimant's disability began within three years after the last injurious exposure to silicon dioxide dust while in the employ of the Big Vein Coal Company. It was also revealed that the disease was reported to the employer.

The commission ordered the Big Vein Coal Company, the employer, and the State Accident Fund to pay to Stevens compensation at the rate of $28 per week. The total payments not to exceed $7,500. The award was signed by R. Duncan Clark, commissioner with the state agency.

Enters Primary In Senate Race

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Harley M. Kilgore of Beckley filed today for the Democratic nomination to succeed her late husband in the U. S. Senate.

The possibility of her getting into the race with important backing from supporters of Rep. Robert Mollohan of Fairmont for governor was reported last week.

There was no hint of backing from any particular quarter as Mrs. Kilgore appeared unexpectedly late this afternoon at the Secretary of State's office.

Most newsmen had left the statehouse for the day when she arrived with her filing certificate and $225 check shortly after 4 p. m.

Another development today was the announcement from Wheeling by Tom Sweeney making it a four-way contest among Republicans for the short-term Senate seat.

The vacancy caused by Kilgore's death on Feb. 28 is being filled temporarily by William R. Laird III of Fayetteville, who resigned as state tax commissioner to take the post. Laird is to serve only until a successor has been elected and qualified.

The Kilgore term runs through 1958. In filing her candidacy today, Mrs. Kilgore said:

"I am filing today because the policies and ideals for which Harley Kilgore stood are at stake. I am convinced the people of West Virginia would like these policies continued through the term for which he was duly elected."

"Further, I feel I am in a position to ably carry on this undertaking."

Light On Dark Subject

I didn't see all of "Out of Darkness" on CBS-TV because it conflicted with "Taming of the Shrew" on NBC-TV, but I saw enough of it to think that it ought to be repeated. Mental health is the country's number one medical problem and this was certainly the most ambitious attempt to tackle it both comprehensively and yet so simply that most anyone could understand it.

Heroine of the show was a catatonic woman—a woman who could not or would not speak—in the Metropolitan State Hospital, Norwalk, Calif. This was quite a bold step on the part of writer-producer Al Wasserman and executive producer Irving Gittlin because it was quite possible that the woman, an actual patient, would not respond to treatment in which case they would have wound up with thousands of feet of film but not much of a show.

Happily she did respond, enough at least to give the show a hopeful ending. Either by luck or design, Wasserman had a heroine with a haunting, unusual face on which were clearly mirrored her fears, her withdrawal from the world, her "rich life of fantasy." Another happy choice was that of Dr. William C. Menninger, one of the nation's top psychiatrists, as narrator. Menninger has a warm personality, an abundance of plain ordinary common sense, and a marvellously uncomplicated prose style. The problem of mental disease as Menninger pointed out, is entirely a matter of degree. There is not one of us who has not suffered some of the fears and insecurities that tormented this girl who has not withdrawn at least briefly from the world into a world of fantasy. Whether you are a hospital case or not, depends on how far you withdraw and how long you've been away.

This factor gave "Out of Darkness" a universality of appeal that should have been deeply moving to anyone over the age of six. Beginning with her arrival in the hospital, mute and withdrawn, the cameras followed the girl during a two and a half month period of extremely delicate and precarious psychotherapy with Dr. Louis Cholden, Los Angeles psychiatrist.

The girl knew she was being filmed but the actual photography was done through one-way glass so as not to intrude on the doctor-patient relationship. With heart-breaking slowness, Dr. Cholden won the girl's confidence and got her to speak haltingly of her conflicts, to take part in the routine of the hospital, to re-enter the world of people. There was a very moving scene with her husband, a remarkably patient and understanding fellow, telling the mute girl of the home he had waiting for her and imploring her to speak because he wanted to hear the sound of her voice. Just what hurt the girl so badly that it threw her into this trance-like state was never explained. Perhaps there were reasons why it couldn't be told but this omission was the only weakness in an otherwise splendid show.

I have always had some reservations about medical shows on television simply because many of them are about subjects which I feel are the business of the physician, not of me. To the laymen they are not even very enlightening and in some cases they can even be harmful by needlessly frightening people. "Out of Darkness" was a conspicuous exception. I don't see how anyone could sit through an hour and a half of it without finding out something about himself, his own inner conflicts and the way his mind and his emotions work. In that respect, this was a genuinely educational program and considering the importance of the subject, it should be repeated.

As a sort of counterpart to the actual story, Orson Welles read portions of a remarkable book written anonymously almost 100 years ago by a patient in a mental hospital in Glasgow, Scotland. It's a remarkably prescient book that reveals an insight into mental illness that is ahead of its time even today, and Welles read it beautifully. Still, I don't know that this part was very necessary. The girl and her haunting face were the star of the show.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Light On Dark Subject

I didn't see all of "Out of Darkness" on CBS-TV because it conflicted with "Taming of the Shrew" on NBC-TV, but I saw enough of it to think that it ought to be repeated. Mental health is the country's number one medical problem and this was certainly the most ambitious attempt to tackle it both comprehensively and yet so simply that most anyone could understand it.

Heroine of the show was a catatonic woman—a woman who could not or would not speak—in the Metropolitan State Hospital, Norwalk, Calif. This was quite a bold step on the part of writer-producer Al Wasserman and executive producer Irving Gittlin because it was quite possible that the woman, an actual patient, would not respond to treatment in which case they would have wound up with thousands of feet of film but not much of a show.

Happily she did respond, enough at least to give the show a hopeful ending. Either by luck or design, Wasserman had a heroine with a haunting, unusual face on which were clearly mirrored her fears, her withdrawal from the world, her "rich life of fantasy." Another happy choice was that of Dr. William C. Menninger, one of the nation's top psychiatrists, as nar-ator. Menninger has a warm personality, an abundance of plain ordinary common sense, and a marvellously uncomplicated prose style. The problem of mental disease as Menninger pointed out, is entirely a matter of degree. There is not one of us who has not suffered some of the fears and insecurities that tormented this girl who has not withdrawn at least briefly from the world into a world of fantasy. Whether you are a hospital case or not, depends on how far you withdraw and how long you've been away.

This factor gave "Out of Darkness" a universality of appeal that should have been deeply moving to anyone over the age of six. Beginning with her arrival in the hospital, mute and withdrawn, the cameras followed the girl during a two and a half month period of extremely delicate and precarious psychotherapy with Dr. Louis Childen, Los Angeles psychiatrist.

The girl knew she was being filmed but the actual photography was done through one-way glass so as not to intrude on the doctor-patient relationship. With heart-breaking slowness, Dr. Childen won the girl's confidence and got her to speak haltingly of her conflicts, to take part in the routine of the hospital, to re-enter the world of people. There was a very moving scene with her husband, a remarkably patient and understanding fellow, telling the mute girl of the home he had waiting for her and imploring her to speak because he wanted to hear the sound of her voice.

Just what hurt the girl so badly that it threw her into this trance-like state was never explained. Perhaps there were reasons why it couldn't be told but this omission was the only weakness in an otherwise splendid show.

I have always had some reservations about medical shows on television simply because many of them are about subjects which I feel are the business of the physician, not of me. To the laymen they are not even very enlightening and in some cases they can even be harmful by needlessly frightening people. "Out of Darkness" was a conspicuous exception. I don't see how anyone could sit through an hour and a half of it without finding out something about himself, his own inner conflicts and the way his mind and his emotions work. In that respect, this was a genuinely educational program and considering the importance of the subject, it should be repeated.

As a sort of counterpart to the actual story, Orson Welles read portions of a remarkable book written anonymously almost 100 years ago by a patient in a mental hospital in Glasgow, Scotland. It's a remarkably prescient book that reveals an insight into mental illness that is ahead of its time even today, and Welles read it beautifully. Still, I don't know that this part was very necessary. The girl and her haunting face were the star of the show.

Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee,
Oh how we miss you, dear,
None but God in Heaven can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no it isn't true.
For three long years have passed, dear,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Missed so very much by his
MOTHER AND FATHER

In Memoriam
In memory of our beloved son, Johnny George, who passed away 3 years ago, March 27, 1953.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee,
Oh how we miss you, dear,
None but God in Heaven can see,
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no it isn't true,
For three long years has passed,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Missed so very much by his
MOTHER AND FATHER

State Young Demos
In Harmony Action
BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—Richard D. Byrd, city council member, was appointed chairman of the State Young Democrats convention today in a demonstration of harmony.
Byrd is serving as State campaign coordinator for George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate. David J. Preller, president of the Young Democrats who made the appointment, is supporting Mahoney's chief rival for the nomination, former Sen. Millard E. Tydings.
Preller, an assistant city solicitor, said the Young Democrats are a non-factional organization, and are neutral in party primaries. "I don't care who he (Byrd) is for in the primary," Preller said. "That doesn't enter into it. He's a good Young Democrat so I appointed him."
And Byrd said, "This is an example of party harmony in action, which I hope will guide our senior leaders in their day-to-day conduct during this campaign."
He said the convention will be held in September with the dates and place yet to be chosen.

Higher Bridge Allows Go-Ahead On Creek Work

Water Diverted To East Side Of Span

Big earth-moving equipment roared up and down Wills Creek yesterday over a new low-water bridge built near the mouth of the creek by the E. J. Albrecht Company.

The company, which was awarded the contract for Wills Creek Channel Sections II and III of the Flood Control project, last week prepared for higher waters by replacing the original bridge, which had been built of pipe and stone, with a higher bridge, set on concrete piers and equipped with larger pipe, over which trucks can roll during normal spring water conditions.

Little excavation work has been accomplished during the past five weeks because of high waters in the bed of the creek.

The company also modified its haul road at the Market Street Bridge, in cooperation with the H. D. Case Company, to keep traffic moving past that point.

During the construction of the east abutment of the bridge, a coffer dam was thrown across the east half of the creek to keep water from the construction area and allow Albrecht crews to move past the point.

Last week, the bridge crews completed pouring the concrete pads on which the steel girders will rest, and began moving to the west side of the creek as the water was diverted to the east side of the creek.

City Is Asked To Cooperate In Housing Plan

The Cumberland Housing Authority has begun negotiations with the City of Cumberland in connection with local cooperation in the building of 80 additional low-rent housing units here.

James B. Raines, executive director of the Authority, and S. Russ Minter, architect for the project, met recently with Mayor Roy W. Eves, Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

The discussion centered around the question of local cooperation with regards to access streets, and as to the extent the City of Cumberland could contribute toward the cost of such streets.

Mayor Eves requested that a specific request be made under the direction of Minter.

He asked that the proposal show the definite location of any area which may be needed as a public thoroughfare.

Raines said the third project will involve some 80 units, bringing total units in the city to the 235 mark. The first, Jane Frazier Village, contains 125 units and was opened August 2, 1952. The second, Benjamin Banneker Homes, contains 30 units and was opened January 26, 1953.

The Public Housing Commission recently authorized a loan of $16,000 for surveys, site selection, appraisals, plans and cost estimates. The Authority recently told the Mayor and Council it hopes to ask for bids on the project by spring of summer.

School Board Plans Budget Meeting

A special meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education has been arranged for 1 p. m. today with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster to consider the school budget for the 1956-57 school year.

The budget must be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners so it can be included in the annual levy list which will be levied this year on Tuesday, April 17. No great change is anticipated although the General Assembly last year passed legislation which will raise the teachers' salary scale another $100 for the next fiscal year. The scale will range from a low of $3,200 to a high of $5,000 with bachelor's degree coming with this year's $3,100 to $4,900.

During the current fiscal year the county is providing $1,648,411 for the operation of county schools. In the 1954-55 year the figure was $1,578,043.

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector, has arranged a schedule of daily Holy Week services.

Busiest Spot On Wills Creek

Big earth-moving Euclids roared yesterday past the remains of the old Market Street Bridge as crews of the E. J. Albrecht Company resumed excavations in the channel of Wills Creek. The photo shows the east abutment of the bridge at right and at the left of the center pier of the old bridge, the relocated haul road which will allow vehicles to move up and down the creek while H. D. Case Company crews build the west abutment of the bridge. Both jobs are part of the flood control project.

$4,300,000 School Building Program Is Being Pushed

While work on the last project in Allegany County's $3,500,000 school construction program authorized in 1953 is heading into the home stretch, plans are being pushed on a number of the relatively minor projects included in the $800,000 supplemental program adopted by the General Assembly in Annapolis in 1953.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, in reviewing the building program yesterday, said that he still hopes to have the new junior-high school at West-ernport finished in time for use next September. Bad winter weather has slowed construction of the new building which will cost more than $1,750,000.

Because of the uncertainty about completion of that new high school, Webster said plans for conversion of the present Bruce High School for elementary use, the other phase of the Westernport project, will be deferred until occupancy of the new school is assured. Present plans call for the continued use of Hammond Street School through the 1956-57 school year, by which time the present Bruce High School can be converted for elementary classes.

The other projects completed since the $3,500,000 program was approved by the General Assembly in 1953 included an addition to Carver School; additional classrooms, gymnasium-auditorium, cafeteria and sewage disposal plant at Flintstone; additional classrooms at Johnson Heights School, the new Parkside Elementary School at LaVale; conversion of old Central High School in Lonaconing for elementary use; additional classrooms at McCoolle Elementary School and additional classrooms, auditorium-gymnasium and cafeteria at Oldtown School.

A new Lincoln Elementary School for Negroes of Frostburg was built in the summer of 1953 and used for two years. However, it has not been used since September when all Negro children of the Frostburg area chose to attend integrated schools.

The $800,000 supplemental building program authorized by the General Assembly a year ago includes an item for making up a deficiency in available funds for the new high school in Westernport.

Preliminary architects' plans for two other projects in this program have been approved by Webster and are awaiting sanction by the State Department of Education. The big job is a new Northeast Elementary School on Valley Road between Cumberland and Bowman's Addition. The Mt. Rainier architectural firm of Walton and Madden is preparing the plans.

S. Russ Minter, local architect, has prepared preliminary plans for locker and shower rooms for boys and girls at Cresaptown. The last year passed legislation which will raise the teachers' salary scale another $100 for the next fiscal year. The scale will range from a low of $3,200 to a high of $5,000 with bachelor's degree coming with this year's $3,100 to $4,900.

During the current fiscal year the county is providing $1,648,411 for the operation of county schools. In the 1954-55 year the figure was $1,578,043.

Certain classroom equipment needed to complete the Flintstone improvements was purchased last summer and land has been acquired for a playground. Plans are being formulated for a new roadway to the school. Water treatment is a future project there.

Acoustical tile will be installed in two areas at Mt. Savage School next summer. Plans also are being completed there for an athletic field, elementary area playground, fence and erosion control. Funds already have been spent to improve the water supply there.

Rewiring work was done last summer at Barton Elementary School and on the first floor of Beall Elementary School in Frostburg. Completion of the Beall work and rewiring at Allegany High School and Mt. Royal Elementary School are in the plan for this coming summer.

The superintendent also reported the land has been acquired at the Oldtown School and grading and fencing are in the future plans.

Water Line Is Tapped

Workers yesterday began to tap the North Branch Water Line into the 36-inch transmission main at the Fort Hill Reservoir, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

He said the work is being supervised by factory experts, sent here to operate specialized equipment which allows the valve to the new line to be installed in the big main without cutting off the water supply.

The wet tap, he said, should be completed today. Yesterday afternoon, Cumberland Contracting Company crews were stringing the steel pipeline into Dorn Avenue, within sight of the reservoir.

Several stretches of pipe must be strung, however, along wet areas which had to be bypassed.

X-Ray Unit Will Be In Frostburg

The mobile X-ray unit will be in Frostburg today and tomorrow, according to the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

The unit will be stationed at City Hall in Frostburg today and tomorrow from 1 to 7 p. m. On Thursday, free chest X-rays will be available at the Midland Fire Hall from 1 to 3 p. m. and in Lonaconing from 3:30 to 7 p. m.

The unit will return to Frostburg on April 11 and 12 to be at the State Teachers College.

On these days, it will be available for students only, as chest X-rays of some 1,000 persons are scheduled during the two-day visit.

Baby Is Injured

James Lipscomb, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lipscomb, 506 Pine Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon after he injured both arms in a fall on the floor. He was admitted for X-rays and treatment.

Among others were bond issue authorizations passed at a special session for school construction in Baltimore City, Dorchester, Harford and Garrett counties, a civic center and libraries in Baltimore and a 2-million dollar addition to Prince Georges General Hospital.

In the batch of regular session bills were the State's capital improvement program of $8,550,167 and authorization to spend $5,585,000 more than the 13 million already approved for state office buildings in Baltimore and Annapolis.

Also becoming law were bills giving the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources authority to regulate gas and oil wells and putting cigarette sales under a fair trade law in Maryland.

Only 26 bills now await executive action, and McKeldin scheduled another bill signing April 4 to take care of these. He has vetoed only one measure from the 1956 session—a bill to bar foreign-owned breweries from operating in Maryland.

In the glare of bright television lights, McKeldin used 14 pens to sign his name to the port authority bill, which he has hailed as a major achievement of the General Assembly.

Grouped around him were Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and other city officials of Baltimore, legislative leaders who helped push the once-controversial bill to enactment, and others who worked on the measure.

McKeldin will name three of the five authority members from lists submitted to him by Baltimore officials and the boards of county commissioners of Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties. He will choose on his own the other two members—one from the nine Eastern Shore counties and the other from the Western Shore outside Baltimore and Anne Arundel.

He sent out letters immediately to the two boards of county commissioners and Baltimore's Board of Estimates asking that they begin planning now whom they want to name to the authority so it can begin its "urgent" work as soon as the bill becomes effective.

$5,482 Donated In Easter Seal Campaign Here

Eagles Collect $313 For Lilies

Contributions in the 12th annual Easter Seal campaign of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children now total $5,482.76, including $313.26 collected by members of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, who sold paper Easter Lilies for the drive on Baltimore Street Saturday.

Glen W. Sonner was chairman of the Eagles' program and T. J. Hopwood served as vice chairman. Others who assisted were J. Farrier, C. Robinette, W. T. Dom, F. Twigg, all past presidents of the lodge; L. Matt, J. Ruehl and C. Bergman.

Mrs. Vivian L. Annan, executive secretary of the league, said that plans call for the drive to close this week as certain commitments must be met from the Easter Seal funds early in April. Traditionally the campaign closes at Easter.

William R. Carscaden, campaign chairman, said 4,345 of the more than 23,000 Allegany County families sent Easter Seal letters have contributed. Another 1,800 letters came back to the league's office when the Post Office Department was unable to deliver them either because the person had moved or because of an incorrect address.

The campaign this year is proving much more successful than a year ago when $3,530.35 had been received at this time compared with $5,169.50. The Eagles' efforts also were almost three times as rewarding this year as in 1955 when only $117.20 was collected.

Cumberland as usual leads in campaign contributions with $3,299.25 received from 2,702 letters, 19 per cent of the 14,135 which were mailed.

On a percentage basis, Mrs. Annan said, Luke and LaVale have been the most generous as 25 per cent of the letters mailed there brought contributions to the league.

Other communities among the top 10 besides Cumberland: Frostburg, 589 contributions, 19 per cent of the 2,993 mailed, for $650; Westernport, 185 contributions, 14 per cent of the 1,300 mailed, for $237.50; Lonaconing, 191 contributions, 18 per cent of the 1,022 mailed, $215.50; Barton, 75 contributions, 18 per cent of the 405 mailed, $93.50; Mt. Savage, 78 contributions, 12 per cent of the 646 mailed, $89.50; Luke, 55 contributions, 25 per cent of the 217 mailed, $76; Keyser (McCoolle to Rawlings area), 59 contributions, 15 per cent of 394 mailed, $58; LaVale (just those handled at the Post Office there) 41 contributions, 25 per cent of 164 mailed, $52; Midland, 40 contributions, 15 per cent of the 268 mailed, $44.

The association already is beginning to supply schools, civic organizations, hospitals and others with literature on the campaign, Kreiling said.

A native of Frostburg, Kreiling attended Beall High School there, and is a graduate of Catherman's Business School of Cumberland.

He previously worked with Otto Hohing and Son, Clothiers, in Frostburg before becoming a member of the bakery staff.

Kreiling is married to the former Erma Close of Frostburg and presently resides on Riehl Avenue in Cumberland with his wife and three children, Helen Mae, John J., and James P. Kreiling.

Also elected to office at the association convention last month in Baltimore was Lewis J. Ties, general manager of Ort Brothers Bakery Inc., who was named a director of the association.

REV. ARTHUR SCROGUM

Walker Demands Foley Quit Race For Congress

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 26 (AP)—A lively Democratic congressional primary in the 6th District was indicated today when one candidate called on his major opponent to "withdraw for the good of the party."

The withdrawal demand, voiced by Councilman J. Graham Walker at a news conference, was aimed at John Foley, a County Orphans Court judge.

Walker described Foley as a "tool of the Lee-Caddington forces"—a reference to E. Brooke Lee, longtime county Democratic leader, and Ward W. Caddington, chairman of the county's Democratic State Central Committee.

Walker said Lee and Caddington and their associates "have demonstrated they are more interested in keeping control of the Democratic party than in winning general elections. It comes right down to bossism."

Says Walker Disqualified Foley said in reply he feels "the use of invective disqualifies Mr. Walker as a possible leader of the party."

Walker told his news conference: "If John Foley were interested in the future of the Democratic party in this county, he wouldn't permit himself to be used to perpetuate these forces in power. He would withdraw as a candidate."

"The charges," Foley shot back, "are denied by my record as an outspoken independent Democrat since 1950. Irresponsible charges and invective cannot change this record."

Walker based his statement on the recent endorsement Foley received from the county's Democratic precinct leaders and the Stevenson-Foley-Tydings club, of which Caddington is president.

"Regardless of what John Foley says, he is in the pockets of the Lee-Caddington group," Walker said.

Noting that Foley has stated that he did not seek the endorsements and did not favor such endorsements to the primary election, Walker said:

"Could Have Stopped" "If he were running his own campaign and didn't want the endorsement, he could have stopped it."

Walker told reporters his accusations "are the first real issue I've been able to find in this campaign."

When he and Foley have appeared on the same platform, Walker said, "I say something of how I feel on an issue and he says, 'Me too.'"

In his answering statement Foley said "such irresponsibility in party affairs and work to unite the Democratic party to bring victory in November," Foley said.

Higher Bridge Allows Go-Ahead On Creek Work

Water Diverted To East Side Of Span

Big earth-moving equipment roared up and down Wills Creek yesterday over a new low-water bridge built near the mouth of the creek by the E. J. Albrecht Company.

The company, which was awarded the contract for Wills Creek Channel Sections II and III of the Flood Control project, last week prepared for higher waters by replacing the original bridge, which had been built of pipe and stone, with a higher bridge, set on concrete piers and equipped with larger pipe, over which trucks can roll during normal spring water conditions.

Little excavation work has been accomplished during the past five weeks because of high waters in the bed of the creek.

The company also modified its haul road at the Market Street Bridge, in cooperation with the H. D. Case Company, to keep traffic moving past that point.

During the construction of the east abutment of the bridge, a coffer dam was thrown across the east half of the creek to keep water from the construction area and allow Albrecht crews to move past the point.

Last week, the bridge crews completed pouring the concrete pads on which the steel girders will rest, and began moving to the west side of the creek as the water was diverted to the east side of the creek.

City Is Asked To Cooperate In Housing Plan

The Cumberland Housing Authority has begun negotiations with the City of Cumberland in connection with local cooperation in the building of 80 additional low-rent housing units here.

James B. Raines, executive director of the Authority, and S. Russ Minter, architect for the project, met recently with Mayor Roy W. Eves, Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

The discussion centered around the question of local cooperation with regards to access streets, and as to the extent the City of Cumberland could contribute toward the cost of such streets.

Mayor Eves requested that a specific request be made under the direction of Minter.

He asked that the proposal show the definite location of any area which may be needed as a public thoroughfare.

Raines said the third project will involve some 80 units, bringing total units in the city to the 235 mark. The first, Jane Frazier Village, contains 125 units and was opened August 2, 1952. The second, Benjamin Banneker Homes, contains 30 units and was opened January 26, 1953.

The Public Housing Commission recently authorized a loan of $16,000 for surveys, site selection, appraisals, plans and cost estimates.

The Authority recently told the Mayor and Council it hopes to ask for bids on the project by spring of summer.

School Board Plans Budget Meeting

A special meeting of the Allegany County Board of Education has been arranged for 1 p. m. today with Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster to consider the school budget for the 1956-57 school year.

The budget must be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners so it can be included in the annual levy list which will be levied this year on Tuesday, April 17. No great change is anticipated although the General Assembly last year passed legislation which will raise the teachers' salary scale another $100 for the next fiscal year. The scale will range from a low of $3,200 to a high of $5,000 with bachelor's degree compared with this year's $3,100 to $4,900.

During the current fiscal year the county is providing $1,648,411 for the operation of county schools. In the 1954-55 year the figure was $1,578,043.

$4,300,000 School Building Program Is Being Pushed

While work on the last project in Allegany County's $3,500,000 school construction program authorized in 1953 is heading into the home stretch, plans are being pushed on a number of the relatively minor projects included in the $800,000 supplemental program adopted by the General Assembly in Annapolis in 1953.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, in reviewing the building program yesterday, said that he still hopes to have the new junior-senior high school at Westport finished in time for use next September. Bad winter weather has slowed construction of the new building which will cost more than $1,750,000.

Because of the uncertainty about completion of that new high school, Webster said plans for conversion of the present Bruce High School for elementary use, the other phase of the Westernport project, will be deferred until occupancy of the new school is assured. Present plans call for the continued use of Hammond Street School through the 1956-57 school year, by which time the present Bruce High School can be converted for elementary classes.

The other projects completed since the $3,500,000 program was approved by the General Assembly in 1953 included an addition to Carver School; additional classrooms, gymnasium-auditorium, cafeteria and sewage disposal plant at Flintstone; additional classrooms at Johnson Heights School, the new Parkside Elementary School at LaVale; conversion of old Central High School in Lonaconing for elementary use; additional classrooms at McCoolle Elementary School and additional classrooms, auditorium-gymnasium and cafeteria at Oldtown School.

A new Lincoln Elementary School for Negroes of Frostburg was built in the summer of 1953 and used for two years. However, it has not been used since September when all Negro children of the Frostburg area chose to attend integrated schools.

The $800,000 supplemental building program authorized by the General Assembly a year ago includes an item for making up a deficiency in available funds for the new high school in Westernport.

Preliminary architects' plans for two other projects in this program have been approved by Webster and are awaiting sanction by the State Department of Education. The big job is a new Northeast Elementary School on Valley Road between Cumberland and Bowman's Addition. The Mt. Rainier architectural firm of Walton and Madden is preparing the plans.

S. Russ Minter, local architect, has prepared preliminary plans for locker and shower rooms for boys and girls at Cresaptown. The Cresaptown School also is scheduled to have acoustical tile installed in its auditorium.

A new floor was installed in the auditorium of Columbia Street School last summer, part of the improvement program there. Still to come is an improved kitchen area. Also among the future programs is an enlarged kitchen area and new equipment for Johnson Heights School.

Certain classroom equipment needed to complete the Flintstone improvements was purchased last summer and land has been acquired for a playground. Plans are being formulated for a new roadway to the school. Water treatment is a future project there.

Acoustical tile will be installed in two areas at Mt. Savage School next summer. Plans also are being completed there for an athletic field, elementary area playground, fence and erosion control. Funds already have been spent to improve the water supply there.

Rewiring work was done last summer at Barton Elementary School and on the first floor of Beall Elementary School in Frostburg. Completion of the Beall work and rewiring at Allegany High School and Mt. Royal Elementary School are in the plan for this coming summer.

The superintendent also reported the land has been acquired at the Oldtown School and grading and fencing are in the future plans.

Water Line Is Tapped

Workers yesterday began to tap the North Branch Water Line into the 36-inch transmission main at the Fort Hill Reservoir, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

He said the work is being supervised by factory experts, sent here to operate specialized equipment which allows the valve to the new line to be installed in the big main without cutting off the water supply.

The wet tap, he said, should be completed today. Yesterday afternoon, Cumberland Contracting Company crews were stringing the steel pipeline into Dorn Avenue, within sight of the reservoir.

The unit will return to Frostburg on April 11 and 12 to be at the State Teachers College.

On these days, it will be available for students only, as chest X-rays of some 1,000 persons are scheduled during the two-day visit.

Kreiling Elected President Of Bakery Group

John A. Kreiling, president and manager of the Community Baking Company here, has been elected president of the Potomac States Bakers Association.

One of the largest bakery organizations in the country, the association is comprised of approximately 100 bakeries and 175 allied members in five states—Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

The association has its principal offices in Baltimore and is in its 40th year of operation, having been founded in 1915.

Kreiling has been associated with the local baking company since he joined the firm in 1922 as a bookkeeper. The company was then known as Smith's Model Bakery, changing to the Community Baking Company in 1927.

The bakery has been a member of the Potomac States Bakers Association since its inception in 1915. Kreiling became president and manager of the concern in 1949 following the death of Frank E. Smith, owner and founder of the company. He has been vice president of the Potomac States Association for the past two years.

Kreiling's term as president of the association is for one year and one of his first official duties was to appoint a publicity committee for the group. He also is planning a promotion campaign for the reduction and elimination of the fattening of bread, point out the non-fattening value of bread to consumers.

The association already is beginning to supply schools, civic organizations, hospitals and others with literature on the campaign, Kreiling said.

A native of Frostburg, Kreiling attended Beall High School there, and is a graduate of Catherman's Business School of Cumberland.

He previously worked with Otto Hohing and Sons, Clothiers, in Frostburg before becoming a member of the bakery staff.

Kreiling is married to the former Erma Close of Frostburg and presently resides on Riehl Avenue in Cumberland with his wife and three children, Helen Mae, John J., and James P. Kreiling.

Stockholders now number approximately 285 and it is hoped this number will reach the 350 limit which will be accepted by the club.

The golf course will be opened on Memorial Day, May 30, and the clubhouse is expected to be in operation within the following 30 days.

Work scheduled in the future includes repairing and surfacing of the clubhouse road and parking lot, the planting of trees and shrubbery on the golf course, a tree nursery on the grounds to assure future supply of trees, installation of picnic tables, fireplaces and children's playground equipment in the recreation area.

Reports at the meeting indicated progress for the first year of the club's operation.

Nothing has yet been done for the control of outside water at Valley High School as planned in the $800,000 program. Some minor improvements were made last summer at East Side School but Webster said further improvements there are being deferred until it can be determined how adversely the school will be affected by the planned Crosstown Expressway. Most of the playground will be lost.

Last summer a new service elevator was installed at Fort Hill High School. A number of auditorium chairs also were bought last summer for various schools around the county.

The board of directors adopted unanimously a motion that non-members of the club residing within a radius of 40 miles from its Frostburg location could play golf on the club golf course only when accompanied by a member in good standing. The motion also decreed that these players could participate no more than once per month and not on Saturdays, Sundays or holidays.

Another motion adopted by the club levies an initiation fee for all individuals who purchase stock in the organization after June 1, 1956. Anyone buying individual stocks prior to October 1, 1956 will be required to pay dues for the full year in order to become an active member.

$5,482 Donated In Easter Seal Campaign Here

Eagles Collect $313 For Lilies

Contributions in the 12th annual Easter Seal campaign of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children now total $5,482.76, including $313.26 collected by members of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, who sold paper Easter Lilies for the drive on Baltimore Street Saturday.

Glen W. Sonner was chairman of the Eagles' program and T. J. Hopwood served as vice chairman. Others who assisted were J. Farrier, C. Robinette, W. T. Dom, F. Twigg, all past presidents of the lodge; L. Matt, J. Ruehl and C. Bergman.

Mrs. Vivian L. Annan, executive secretary of the league, said that plans call for the drive to close this week as certain commitments must be met from the Easter Seal funds early in April. Traditionally the campaign closes at Easter.

William R. Carscaden, campaign chairman, said 4,345 of the more than 23,000 Allegany County families sent Easter Seal letters have contributed. Another 1,800 letters came back to the league's office when the Post Office Department was unable to deliver them either because the person had moved or because of an incorrect address.

The campaign this year is proving much more successful than a year ago when $3,530.35 had been received at this time compared with $5,169.50. The Eagles' efforts also were almost three times as rewarding this year as in 1955 when only $117.20 was collected.

Cumberland as usual leads in campaign contributions with $3,299.25 received from 2,702 letters, 19 per cent of the 14,135 which were mailed.

On a percentage basis, J. A. Annan said, Luke and LaVale have been the most generous as 25 per cent of the letters mailed there brought contributions to the league.

Other communities among the top 10 besides Cumberland:

Frostburg, 589 contributions, 19 per cent of the 2,993 mailed, for $650; Westernport, 185 contributions, 14 per cent of the 1,300 mailed, for $237.50; Lonaconing, 191 contributions, 18 per cent of the 1,022 mailed, $215.50; Barton, 75 contributions, 18 per cent of the 405 mailed, $93.50; Mt. Savage, 78 contributions, 12 per cent of the 646 mailed, $89.50; Luke, 55 contributions, 25 per cent of the 217 mailed, $76; Keyser (McCoolle to Rawlins area), 59 contributions, 15 per cent of 394 mailed, $58; LaVale (just those handled at the Post Office there) 41 contributions, 25 per cent of 164 mailed, $52; Midland, 40 contributions, 15 per cent of the 268 mailed, $44.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger is reminding county farmers that the second annual Spring Feeder Cattle sale and grading demonstration is set for April 26 at 10 a. m. at the Baltimore Livestock Auction market at West Friendship.

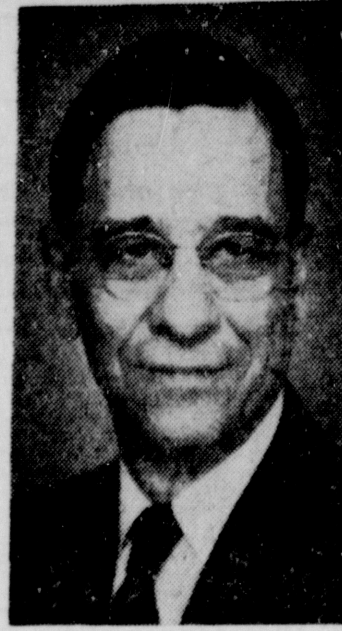

The grading demonstration, conducted by livestock specialists from the University of Maryland, begins at 10 a. m., followed by the sale at 1 p. m. All cattle for the sale must be delivered to the market by 3 p. m. April 25.

It is my desire, as I am sure it is yours, to make this a strong, capable authority to carry out the intent of this progressive legislation by acting as necessary to modernize and promote our port and to maintain the top rating which we enjoy among American foreign tonnage ports," he said.

"Like all official bodies, of course, this authority will be only as strong as those of whom it is comprised."

He asked them to choose men "of the highest character, devoted to the interests of the State and its communities" who are willing to give "considerable time to the big job that will be theirs."

"The five members will serve without pay but will hire an executive director, at a salary they

Local Pastor Is Appointed To District Post

Rev. Arthur Scrogum, 114 North Cedar Street, who has been pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren, West Second and North Cedar streets since June 1944, has been appointed executive secretary of the Middle Maryland District of the Church of the Brethren.

Rev. Scrogum informed his congregation Sunday of the call to this high church office, and tendered his resignation effective September 1. He explained that the call to the new church responsibility will require him to move to Hagerstown, where headquarters of the Middle Maryland District are located.

In his new position, Rev. Scrogum will supervise the work of 16 congregations and 25 churches, conducting preaching missions, promoting evangelism and stewardship campaigns, planning leadership training schools, supervising pastoral changes, promoting the district, regional and worldwide program of the denomination, planning the summer camping program of the district and counseling with pastors of the district.

Has Held Many Offices

Rev. Scrogum has served the community as both secretary and president of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association and as president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association. He was chairman of the Emergency Relief Committee here for a couple of years during an economic readjustment period and served as an active member of the Steering Committee for Economic Development.

He has been a member of the board of directors of Central YMCA and chairman of the world service committee of the YMCA. During his time in Cumberland, Rev. Scrogum also served the Church of the Brethren to which the Cumberland church now belongs, as chairman of the Ministerial Board, member of the conference program committee, chairman of the fraternal relations committee, member of the camp board of the District Camp, and moderator of eight churches.

A native of Fairfield, Wayne County, Illinois, where he was born August 7, 1897, Rev. Scrogum was a son of a minister. His parents were Rev. J. J. and Rebecca (Miller) Scrogum, both natives of Weyers Cave, Va.

He was educated in grade schools of Wayne County and graduated from high school at Hart High School, Hart, Mich. He attended from 1916 to 1921 the Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago and Manchester College in Indiana. He received his A. B. degree at Manchester in 1921. He was ordained to the ministry at Hart, Mich. in 1920.

From 1921 to 1944 he served as a high school teacher and pastor of Accident (Md.) Church of the Brethren. In June of 1944 he moved to Cumberland to become pastor of the local church. However, his interest in Cumberland went back to about 1922 when he aided in starting Living Stone Church here. He also aided in starting churches at Westernport, Frostburg and Danville.

Walker Demands Foley Quit Race For Congress

Levels Accusation Of 'Bossmism'

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 26 (AP) — A lively Democratic congressional primary in the 6th District was indicated today when one candidate called on his major opponent to "withdraw for the good of the party."

The withdrawal demand, voiced by Councilman J. Graham Walker at a news conference, was aimed at John Foley, a County Orphans Court judge.

Walker described Foley as a "tool of the Lee-Caddington forces"—a reference to E. Brooke Lee, longtime county Democratic leader, and Ward W. Caddington, chairman of the county's Democratic State Central Committee.

Walker said Lee and Caddington and their associates "have demonstrated they are more interested in keeping control of the Democratic party than in winning general elections. It comes right down to bossmism."

Says Walker Disqualified

Foley said in reply he feels "the use of invective disqualifies Mr. Walker as a possible leader of the party."

Walker told his news conference: "If John Foley were interested in the future of the Democratic party in this county, he wouldn't permit himself to be used to perpetuate these forces in power. He would withdraw as a candidate."

"The charges," Foley shot back, "are denied by my record as an outspoken independent Democrat since 1950. Irresponsible charges and invective cannot change this record."

Walker based his statement on the recent endorsement Foley received from the county's Democratic precinct leaders and the Stevenson-Foley-Tydings club, of which Caddington is president.

"Regardless of what John Foley says, he is in the pockets of the Lee-Caddington group," Walker said.

Noting that Foley has stated that he did not seek the endorsements and did not favor such endorsements to the primary election, Walker said:

"Could Have Stopped"

"If he were running his own campaign and didn't want the endorsement, he could have stopped it."

Walker told reporters his accusations "are the first real issue I've been able to find in this campaign."

When he and Foley have appeared on the same platform," Walker said, "I say something of how I feel on an issue and he says, 'Me too.'"

In his answering statement Foley said "such irresponsibility must be condemned by all right minded Democrats."

"I shall continue my efforts as in the past to defeat irresponsibility whenever it arises in party affairs and
